TAS opens the 1969-70 season Saturday night at 8:00 with artist Bill Pursell.

Pursell For Year's First Artist Series

Bill Pursell, pianist, composer, and arranger, will perform in McClurkan Auditorium Saturday night, Nov. 15, at 8:00 p.m. This will be the first Trevecca Artist Series presentation of this school year. Tickets for non-students are available for $1.00.

Pursell, a star performer on the American scene today, started playing the piano at age three and composing at age four. While in high school he won a National Composers Contest for two serious compositions.

He then attended the Peabody Conservatory on the Boise Composition Scholarship. He earned the Bachelor's and Master's Degrees in Composition at the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester. Here he won the first Edward B. Benjamin Award for Composition.

Today he is best known internationally for this top 40 hit single and album, OUR WINTER LOVE, which has become a standard. In the past few years he has concentrated on the recording and television fields and has worked closely with many of the biggest names in the entertainment industry, such as: Burl Ives, Johnny Cash, Bobby Vinton, Brenda Lee and Chet Atkins.

In the past Purcell has appeared as guest soloist with symphony orchestras and has toured the nation as rhythm and blues and a top entertainer. He was voted 'Most Promising Instrumentalist' in 1963 by nation's disc jockeys.

Professor James Van Hook, chairman of the concert program, stated: The only difference between Bill Pursell and Peter Nero is the way they spell their name."

S.N.E.A Set New Goals

The Student National Education Association has plans for an active year in 1969-70. S.N.E.A. strives to provide new opportunities and experiences for prospective teachers and those interested in the field of education.

Among the activities scheduled to begin soon is a tutoring program involving three Nashville elementary schools. An additional program will provide tutoring services for juvenile delinquents. The club plans to sponsor a Professor Recognition Day and to purchase a Who's

TNC Homecoming Provides Full Slate of Activities

Trevecca Adds Warehouse For Endowment

A new building is being constructed on campus as an addition to the present structure now occupied by Nashville Bolt and Screw Company.

Nashville Bolt and Screw Company is a subsidiary of U.S. Pipe and Foundry Company who has a long-term lease arrangement with Trevecca Nazarene College Endowments, Inc. TNC Endowments, Inc. is a separate corporation from the college.

The addition is necessary to allow for expanded business and comprises a 120 ft. x 120 ft. "Bigbee" structure. It will double the available warehouse space. Estimated completion date is January 31, 1970.

Nashville Bolt and Screw Company is a distributor of nuts and bolts throughout the Middle Tennessee area.

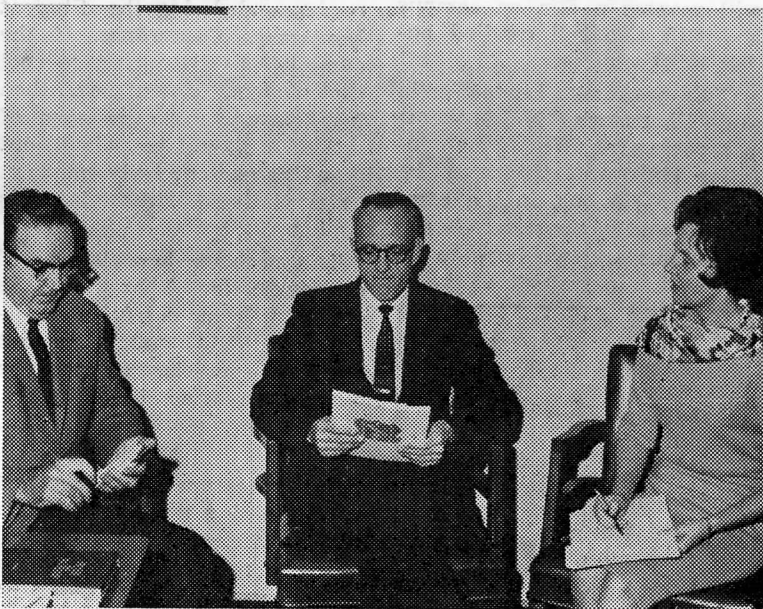

November 13th the varsity cheerleaders started the Homecoming activities with a Snake Ecnad. Plans included a student gathering on the patio of the Student Center with a wild winding procession to end at the field behind the P.E. Center. Coach Bill Boner was scheduled for a pep talk and two pep skits were presented by an Alpha-Beta combination and a Delta-Gamma combination. A huge bonfire was the culmination of all the evening's activities which included a contest between the classes to see which class could get the most rubbish to burn.

Today, Friday, November 14th, a full schedule has been planned. "Pek" Gunn will start the activities in chapel with a short talk. Mr. Gunn is noted as a humorist and is the author of the book, Tumblin' Creek Tales. At 3:00 Friday afternoon a flower Memorial Service will be held in honor of J. O. McClurkan. After a short service, a wreath will be placed on his grave at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

An Open House will follow the Memorial service with all buildings and dorms open for public inspection. Open House will conclude at 5:00.

Two basketball games have been scheduled for Friday night. The first game starting at 6:00, will be between Trevecca Alumni and the All Stars. Following it at 8:00 will be the varsity game between Trevecca and Atlanta Christian College. At the half-time of the varsity game, the Encounters will perform and the climax of the evening will be when Trevecca's first Homecoming Queen is presented. The Queen will be chosen from the senior class. The candidates are Linda Campbell, Teresa Johnson, and Wanda Testerman. The student body will vote on one of the girls. The girl receiving the highest number of votes will be Queen, the second highest will be the first runner-up, and the third highest will be the Princess of her class. Each of the other

Mr. Weeks, Dr. Strickland, and Mrs. Bolton meet to discuss constitution revisions for the newly-functioning Resident's Association.

Dormitory Residents Organizing Under Revised Constitution

Pending the approval of the constitution, campus students will soon be organized under an effective Dormitory Residents Association. The organization and constitutional revision is being coordinated by Dr. William Strickland, Dean of Student Life; Mr. J. A. Weeks, Dean of Men; and Mrs. Evangeline Bolton, Dean of Women.

The Dormitory Residents Association will exist primarily for students to "develop responsibility for dormitory life, to increase the concepts of democratic processes, and to enlarge student awareness of the implications for group living."

Dean Weeks, initiating the constitutional revision, stated, "I would hope that some time this quarter we can get student ratification of the new constitution and by the virtue of the fact that we are now operating on an out-dated constitution we can move forward."

The new dormitory association will be structured on three levels, according to Weeks. In each dormitory a committee will be formed to handle problems dealing with that particular dormitory. The chairman and secretary from each of the dorms will then go as representatives to the Executive Committee which will handle problems dealing with all dorms. At this particular level the Executive Committee will be divided between the men's and women's dormitories. Weeks stated that if needed, both the Men's and Women's Executive Committees could form one united dormitory organization.

CIVINETTES TO SPONSOR CAN STACKING CONTEST

The Civinettes Club will sponsor a can stacking contest on Wednesday, November 19th. This contest will involve competition among classes to see which class can collect and stack the largest stack of canned foods. Each class member is asked to participate and bring as many canned goods as he can.

The can stacking will take place in front of the cafeteria, and the class having the largest stack will win a trophy. All foods will be distributed to needy families for Thanksgiving.

The present level of the proposed constitution is at its suggestion stage. Weeks stated that the dormitory committees were making recommendations for initial revisions.

The Student Council, in addition to the dormitory suggestions, has asked for the privilege of approving the revised constitution and amendments

TREV-ECHOES A PURPOSEFUL TRADITION

Trev-Echoes, the official student publication of Trevecca Nazarene College, is celebrating its twenty-fifth silver anniversary this month. Through every one of those twenty-five years the Trev-Echoes newspaper has continually strived to be an effective student voice to the college and community.

Since the first mimeographed edition a quarter of a century ago, the newspaper has made ever increasing progress toward a well-balanced quality publication. Today's edition represents the largest Trev-Echoes and combined staff effort in the history of the paper. Today the Trev-Echoes boasts nearly a sixty-member staff and in itself is one of the largest organizations on campus.

But by no means is the paper free from trouble and worry. Like its struggling beginning as a class project, the today Trev-Echoes is struggling for much that would make it an even truer and effective voice of the students. Finances are still a problem despite the fact that a lively business staff is continually making strides toward a more efficient financial base. But who isn't having trouble with money today. The paper is also struggling toward a greater autonomy that would reflect unbiased opinions and decisions. However, the Trev-Echoes is dedicated more than ever to do its part in making a better Trevecca.

It seems rather ironic that today we celebrate Trevecca's first homecoming, the making of a tradition, and by the same token we may also celebrate twenty-five years of tradition and history with the Trev-Echoes. The staff takes this opportunity to welcome each alumnus on campus this week end. It is our hope that all will share in helping to make this a memorable tradition. DLM

Thanksgiving Banquet

Senior Class, in cooperation with Interstate United. Meal tickets, or the cost of the evening meal in the cafeteria will be the admission requirement. However, decorations and costumes provided by the Senior Class will be costly. Therefore, they request that guests donate as much as they can in the form of a tip for the costumed waiters and waitresses (Senior Class members).

"Turkey in the Straw" is the theme of this year's truly early Americana feast. An old fashioned "dinner on the grounds Thanksgiving" will be the order of the evening, with fitting entertainment. Sunday dress will be appropriate for guests.

Administration, faculty, staff, and members of their families, as well as all students are invited to attend. The banquet will be held in the Physical Education Center.

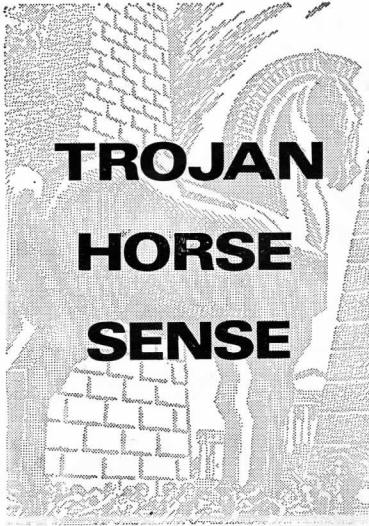

SNEA Sets Goals

Who book for the campus library. Programs will feature such attractions as a fashion show illustrating how a college wardrobe can be converted to a teaching wardrobe, as well as speakers in the field of education.

In order to finance these activities, the S.N.E.A. club will be sponsoring various money-raising activities. Doughnut sales in the dormitories began on October 30. Student Directories will be made available at the end of October. The club will sponsor a film on campus and will also sell candied apples in November.

Club president, Linda Sartin said, "This year's S.N.E.A. theme is involvement. We, as an education club, are striving to be active on campus, in the community, and in the state. We are on campus and we hope to be one of the most effective."

Shadows on "The Hilltop"

Everyone has been eagerly anticipating the basketball season. The student body, faculty, and administration are really fired up about our basketball team. "Basketball spirit" is at its top, but does that justify saying that "school spirit" is the best it has ever been? Just how much can the team contribute to mellowing the students' numerous complaints about unexplained policies? For the sake of some of the faculty and administrative staff members who have not taken the time to listen to the students, it should be stated that student unrest is at its all time high and correspondingly overall school spirit is at the lowest peak ever. This situation needs some examination because there must be a reason why things are like they are and there had better be a cure for the condition.

One of the big complaints is why has there not been significant action taken on the proposals brought forward and recommended by the Student Leadership Conference. If the administration is going to cool the students down any, then there should be some sign of action. It should be pointed out that this student body may not be as apathetic as those in years gone by.

The problem here is one of communication. There must be dialogue for successful counseling and there must be respect on both people's part for the other person's individuality. One's "moral integrity" is not necessarily someone else's.

All these types of things just keep building up in the minds of the students and there has to be some pressure let off somewhere. So, perhaps the student decides to go to his gymnasium to watch his team participate in a scrimmage (i.e. a practice session), and finds that some committee has closed the doors to the students for the scrimmage. Now does that sound like a good way to keep student morale at a high peak? What tops it all off is that there is not even any explanation given as to why the action was taken as was asked for by the Student Council.

This may have been bold, but it was done in hope of bringing some people out of their dream world and into confrontations with the real facts about Trevecca's student body. What is really disgusting is that most of the items that the student has to fight for are so petty that he never has time to get his thoughts off the hill and onto national and international affairs.

A "HOME" FOR HOMECOMING

By John Teter

The first Homecoming for TNC is here, and with it come some thoughts on the importance and relevance of this event. What is Homecoming based on? What does the term Homecoming imply? What should be the result of a Homecoming?

Homecoming is based on tradition and history. The traditions and history of TNC, which are many and varied will no doubt be much in evidence at Homecoming.

To some this will sound "corny", but the term Homecoming seems to imply a home, and perhaps more of a home atmosphere is needed here. In a true home atmosphere everyone can speak his part and be listened to. Everyone's ideas are considered and what is best for the group is decided upon. Individual wishes are put aside for the benefit and growth of everyone.

But how does this relate to TNC's first Homecoming? The best result of this event would be a dedication on the part of everyone to work for a strong future for TNC. This will not be an easy task, but it is not impossible, and can be accomplished through willing effort and some sacrifices by all concerned.

Laymen and pastors must be willing to sacrifice, if necessary, and see that their school budgets are paid in full. Alumni and friends must be willing to spend time and effort on the DAY program and see that it succeeds. Establishing a strong financial base in this way will be a big start toward success.

To further succeed, the Administrators must be willing to formulate rules and policies which will help provide a more harmonious spirit on campus. An atmosphere conducive to academic freedom and social development must be provided to draw and keep students here. Now, what about the students? Where do they fit in?

Students at TNC, as everywhere, are becoming more aware of what goes on around them, and more vocal in their criticism of policies which seem unfair to them. Their questioning of life can be a valuable part of their learning process and they deserve to be recognized and listened to as long as it does not get out of hand.

The student, however, has the responsibility to put aside personal wants and prejudices, when necessary, for the advancement of the school. He must learn that some changes come slow and be willing to wait when the situation demands it. He must also be willing to hear the other person's viewpoint, just as he expects his to be heard.

Yes, this Homecoming can be important, if the excitement it generates can get everyone interested in making the personal sacrifices and adjustments necessary to insure a strong future for TNC. If this happens and everyone does their part to provide an atmosphere conducive to academic freedom, questioning, and social development at TNC, then the importance and relevance of this first Homecoming will be seen in future ones.

Weeks stated that although additional information would be needed to make the Stuco's request more definite and clear, he felt that if the organization was to be under the Associated Student Body it should have the approval of the Student Council for ratification of the constitution.

Final ratification of the Dormitory Residents Association's constitution will come from the Student Life Council, the Administrative Council, and the resident students.

The present dormitory association is being operated from the basis of a constitution which was approved in 1964.

classes has elected a Princess to serve in the court. Freshman representative on the court will be Brenda Stroman, Sophomore representative will be Mary Boswell, and Junior representative will be Paulette Johnson.

Following the game there will be a post-game reception in the College Center. This will be a formal affair. The cost is $1.00 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Saturday morning from 7:30 until 9:00 there will be a family breakfast served in the school cafeteria. At 12:00 there will be special group luncheons.

The final activity of the busy week-end will be the first of the Artist Series. Mr. Bill Purcell an outstanding concert pianist will perform with the assistance of a Nashville guitarist, a percussionist, and a string bass player.

The Sentimental Season

Homecoming, 1969. Trevecca's first. Another step in her development. But why have such an event and why make so much out of it? Those responsible for the details of the weekend are probably asking the same question. The answer lies in our alumni. This weekend brings to campus some of our many distinguished alumni from all across the nation. This is in effect, their weekend. We as students want to give them special honor by showing them the "new" Trevecca—new buildings, new curriculum, new faculty, etc. This weekend offers our students time to meet our alumni, reminisce with them, and bring them up to date on campus development.

For many alumni, this week-end will be an excuse to get away from the "grind." For others, it will be one filled with the excitement of a Trojan basketball game and meeting old friends. To all it will be a sentimental time of escaping reality for just a moment, and fleeing into the past.

As students, we want to do our part to make this time as Cont. P. 3, Col. 2

WELCOME ALUMNI

PAGEANTRY HIGHLIGHTS WEEK

This year will be the first year Trevecca has had a Homecoming court. It will be an exciting weekend for students, faculty, and alumni, but most of all it will be an exciting weekend for the queen and her court. Six charming and beautiful girls have been selected for the 1969 Homecoming court. The freshmen, sophomores, and junior have selected a princess to represent their class in the court. The candidates for the honor of queen were chosen by the Senior Class, and the entire student body voted on one of these three senior girls to reign tonight as Homecoming queen. No one will know who the queen will be until tonight at half time when the court will be introduced and the queen crowned.

PRESENTING THE ROYAL CANDIDATES

WANDA TESTERMAN

Wanda Testerman, one of the senior candidates for Homecoming queen, hales from Roanoke, Virginia. Wanda is no stranger to being a queen candidate; she has been in the Valentine Pageant both her freshman and junior years and she was Delta football representative running for Gridiron queen her sophomore year. She has been extremely active in her four years here at Trevecca. She has participated in intramural sports, Treble-Tones, served as Delta cheerleader, president of Civinettes, Junior Class secretary, Senior Class secretary, Darda feature editor her junior year, Darda girl's sports editor her senior year, Trev-Echoes managing sports editor, a member of S.N.E.A., and has worked on various committees for her class and school. This year she was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She is an elementary education and English major. Shortly after graduation this year she plans to be married. Her husband-to-be will be attending Seminary, so Wanda will teach next year in Kansas City. Her fiance, Randal Smith, will be her escort for this memorable occasion.

TERESA JOHNSON

Teresa Johnson, one of the three senior candidates for homecoming is from the Sunshine State—Miami, Florida. Teresa is well known around campus for her hard work and dedication to her school. In her four years here at T.N.C. she has served as Darda sophomore editor, Trev-Echoes feature editor, Student Council secretary, Student-Faculty Forum, senior class president, Resident Assistant, and she has been a member of S.N.E.A., Civinettes, and Missionary Fellowship. She was selected as a member of the Student Mission Corps and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Teresa was chairman of the Valentine Pageant her sophomore year, and last year she was one of the ten candidates in the pageant. After graduation, Teresa plans to teach elementary school or junior high English. She is an elementary education and English major. Her escort tonight will be Jim Hodge.

LINDA CAMPBELL

Linda Campbell, a blue-eyed, blonde, is also from Roanoke, Virginia. Linda is an elementary education major with an English minor. While here at Trevecca, Linda has been interested in music. She sang in the Treble-Tones choir for three years. She has also been very active in intramural sports, serving as Delta co-chairman. Linda's favorite hobby is sewing. Next year she plans to teach elementary school here in Nashville. Her escort will be Don Lockhart.

MARY BOSWELL

Mary Boswell comes to us from Charleston, West Virginia. Mary was active in high school, being Student Body President, and has come to Trevecca with the same eagerness to work. In the two years she has been at T.N.C. she has been active as vice president of Music Club, a member of Darda staff, a member of Civinettes, secretary of Inter-Club Council, treasurer to her freshman class, and she was a contestant in the Valentine Queen Pageant. Mary has a special interest in music. She has been in Treble Tone Choir and is presently one of the members of the Encounters. As part of the Boswell Trio, Mary and her sisters have made two outstanding albums. Mary has an elementary education major and a music minor. Her escort tonight will be Robert Brower.

JUNIOR PRINCESS

PAULETTE JOHNSON

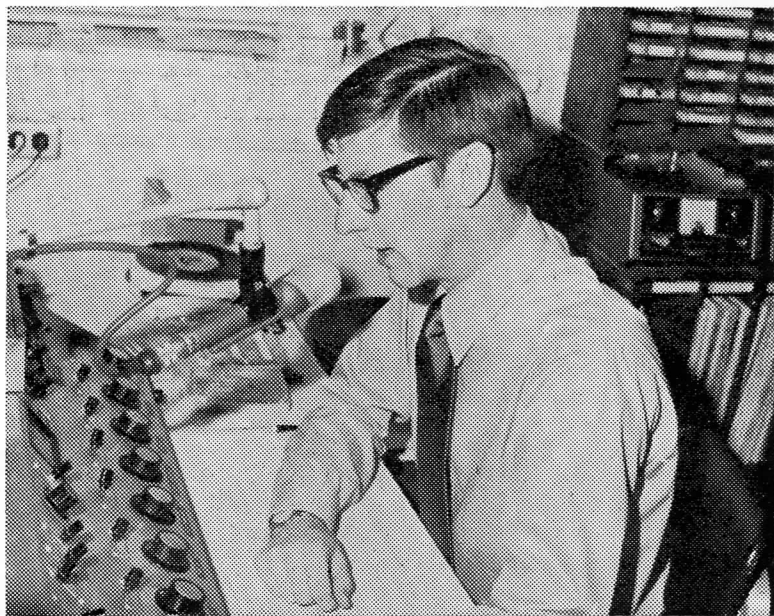

Paulette Johnson, a petite junior from Miami, Florida, will serve as princess in the homecoming court. Polly (as her friends call her) is an elementary education and English major. In her three years at T.N.C. she has served as secretary of the junior class, president of the dorm council, and student member on the Financial Aid and Scholarship Committee. She has worked as a member of Trev-Echoes staff for two years, and is a member of S.N.E.A. and Civinettes. Polly's escort will be Joe Lanham.

FRESHMAN PRINCESS

The freshman princess will be Brenda Stroman, an elementary education major from Macon, Georgia. In high school, Brenda was in the homecoming court and served on the Student Council. This year she is a member of S.N.E.A. Her escort for the night will be Fred Huff.

"Don't blow your cool" printed in neat black letters on a little white sign is visible on the plate glass window of studio "A" from the plate glass window of studio "C", WNAZ-FM. There are three little modernly equipped cement block studios in the WNAZ-FM station complex. It is in Studio "C", the control room at the foot of the stairs (basement level) in the Fine Arts Building, that the operator spends most of his time. From this studio come most of the broadcasts of Trevecca's radio station. Studio "A" is used as the station office, where Sue Kay, with WNAZ longer than any other staff member does her work as secretary.

It is 11:00 p.m. Thursday night. Station manager Jim Quiggins is on the air with news. His smooth, professional announcer's voice moves on to sports, then to the weather report. "Gentle on my Mind" comes over the air, then a revised weather report at 11:15. Jim has two "easy listening music" records cued up on the turntables on either side of his seat. "Music until Midnight" (10:00-12:00 nightly) is in progress. This is a portion of the six hours of commercial free listening music broadcasted daily over WNAZ-FM, one of two educational stations in Nashville.

The station signs on at 4:00 p.m. and gives a news broadcast at 4:02. There is listening music until 7:00 o'clock, interrupted only by hourly news reports. Religious programs, interspersed with religious listening music, are aired from 7:00 to 8:00 nightly. WNAZ has one of the most complete selections of religious music of all the stations in Nashville. At 8:00, a brief devotional is provided by a member of Trevecca's Ministerial Associations. Classical music and educational programming are on from 8:00 until 10:00. The station plans to provide an advance schedule of classical music so that classical music enthusiasts can plan to listen to the broadcast of a favorite selection.

The staff of WNAZ feels that even brighter days are ahead for the fast growing ten watt station. With the coming of Dr. Paul Cleckner, Director of Broadcasting, the Speech Department, under which the radio station operates, has been upgraded. Opportunities for students to take courses in broadcasting should not be far in the future. Student volunteers, mostly Freshmen, are already valuable additions to the staff of Ronnie Dean, chief engineer, Steve Mays, program director, and Jim Quiggins, station manager. Ronnie Dean devotes his time to WNAZ in addition to being a full time television engineer for WSM-TV. A former Trevecca student and member of First Church, Ronnie says he is "happiest when doing electronics work and Christian work, therefore WNAZ is a big interest."

With its excellent equipment, versatile programming, and capable staff, WNAZ-FM should not be far from realization of the station's dream, broadcasting from studios atop Trevecca Towers, making coverage of a much larger area possible.

WNAZ will be broadcasting the Olivet tournament live from Olivet, November 21 and 22. Find an FM receiver . . . listen regularly . . . support your school station, WNAZ-FM, "the Voice of Trevecca."

Fine Arts To Present Opera

The opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors," written by Gian-Carlo Menotti, will be presented Friday, the fifth of December, 1969, at 8:00 p.m. in McClurkan Memorial Auditorium.

Professor Barbara McClain will direct the cast which consists of vocal majors in the Trevecca College Department of Fine Arts.

Principal characters are: Amahl, a crippled boy played by Diana Ross; Amahl's mother, played by Dianne Murphree; Three Kings, played by Dave Pangle, Jordan Conger and Phillip Bowles; a Page played by Ernest Lewis. The cast also includes several shepherds.

Musical background is to be furnished by a small choral ensemble featuring two-piano accompaniment of Professor McClain and Professor Baerg. Professor Janaway will design settings and costumes.

The one-act opera was written for television and was given for the first time on December 24, 1957 on the NBC-TV Opera Theatre in New York City.

There will be no admission cost for the featured event.

WE SALUTE YOU-TROJANS

CAPTAIN

These students represent our 1969 Trojan basketball team. The majority of the players are freshmen, but they all share the same enthusiasm and desire to win. They are all eager to make this a winning season for the Trevecca Trojans.

Mike Sexton, the 6' 4" center for the starting five is 23 years old with blonde hair and blue eyes. Basketball is his main hobby, along with other sports, and working with young people. Mike's preference in girls is his wife and daughter. His other likes are home life, traveling, and nice clothes. His dislikes include narrow-mindedness, changing diapers, and a noisy dorm. Business Education is his major, and plans for the future are moving to Kentucky and teaching business in a high school. When asked his opinion of Trevecca, Mike answers, "Many changes have been made since I first came to TNC, and most of them have been for the better."

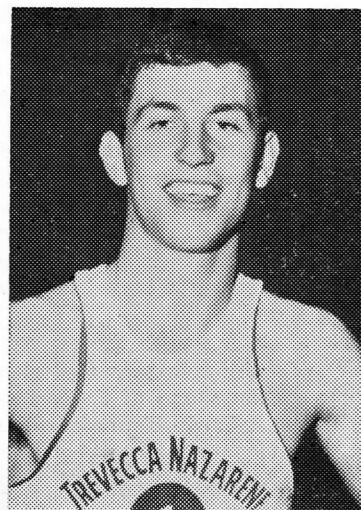

With plans after graduation including marriage and coaching or working with young people in sports, 19-year-old Charles Torrain is a 6', 2" starting forward from Hopkinsville, Kentucky. Records, sports, parties, and girls are among his likes with homework, meeting requirements, and being forced to do certain things comprise his list of dislikes. Charles prefers "soul sisters," but he particularly likes "tall ones that look at you for what you really are." He has no special reason for coming to TNC except to play basketball.

nessee is Nelson Ridley. Reddish hair, black eyes, 5'9" is the description that fits this 18 year old. He also is on the starting five. Nelson is majoring in history and plans to teach after graduation.

On his list of preferences are basketball, any type of short girl, and having a good time. Nelson's dislikes are the food in the cafeteria and the lack of social life. His hobbies include bowling and swimming, and his reason for choosing Trevecca was to play basketball in a religious atmosphere.

practices and food. Among his dislikes are long ball practices, studying and tests. Tim, a 5'11" 19 year old freshman, is majoring in history and minoring in physical education. His future plans include teaching and coaching. From Goodlettsville, Tennessee, Tim came to TNC to receive a good education and to play college basketball.

Hard and long practices, studying and tests are the pet peeves of 6'2" Gary Bedwell. The blue eyed, brown haired 18 year old forward is from Springfield, Tennessee. With a business ma-Guard William Hassell stands 6'0" and plans to become a social worker or P.E. teacher upon graduation. William likes Trevecca because of the people he has met and being a part of a small college. Being from Nashville, William is not far from home.

John Williams, our 6'7" center, likes fishing, hunting and dill pickles. Blonde and brunette girls who are friendly with good personalities are his favorites. From Scottsville, Kentucky, John is majoring in math and plans to farm after graduation.

Disliking false people, zoology, and war, Butch Baker is from Nashville. Included in his likes are goofing off, good-looking girls and horses. This forward stands 6'4" and is majoring in business. His preferred type of girl is one like Barbara.

His opinion of Trevecca is that it has a friendly environment with wonderful people.

Holding the other position as starting forward is 18 year old Brent Godbey. The 6'2" Eubank, Kentuckian is majoring in business with a minor in P.E. Sports head his list of favorites, not forgetting to include food, sleep, and light practices. His dislikes are the opposite: lack of food and sleep, hard practices, and tests. Future plans entail some form of business work or teaching. His reason for coming to TNC was the "opportunity to play college basketball and to receive an education in a Christian environment."

Hailing from Nashville, Ten-

major and a minor in math, Gary plans to enter into a business profession. His hobbies are all kinds of sports and his preference in girls is "just like the one I have now." His other preference is easy practices. Gary's reason for enrolling at T.N.C. was to get an education in a Christian environment and to play college basketball.

Like several of the other players, Mickey Johnson plans to teach and coach. This 18 year old 5'11" freshman is from Franklin, Tennessee. His major being business, Mickey came to T.N.C. to play basketball. He enjoys playing with the neighborhood kids back home and prefers a "certain girl."

A COLLEGE WITH A HERITAGE

No doubt every student at Trevecca today has heard the "This is Trevecca" tape, adapted from a history of Trevecca written by Rev. Eugene Williams. We have listened to the trumpets sounding and the deep, resonant voice challenging us to be "sons and daughters she'll be proud of." It is a stirring drama spanning a period of over 68 years.

It all began with the conversion of a shy young Presbyterian boy by the name of J. O. McClurkan in Irwin, Tennessee. His of the Pentecostal Mission. Consequently, the need for a training school for Christian workers arose. Therefore, in 1901, J. O. McClurkan founded a Bible training school in Nashville. In 1910 the school was chartered as Trevecca College, named after an institute of higher learning by the same name across the Atlantic in England. Students came to Trevecca in those beginning years tuition free and paid $10.00 a month for room and board.

Because of sacrifice and dedi-

Gallatin Road campus. With a law suit and court injunction looming over them, the administration moved Trevecca College to First Church of the Nazarene for the academic year 1933-34. At that time, C. E. Hardy was college president, and a tall young East Kentuckian, A. B. Mackey, was dean. Under their sacrificial leadership, Trevecca came through. God had placed His hand on A. B. Mackey and anointed him for leadership. Near the end of the thirties the campus was moved to the present Murfreesboro Road site, leased to the school with an option to buy. Three years later, President Mackey privately purchased 19 acres and deeded it to the college for token sum of $1.00.

Upon the retirement of President Mackey, another tall man stepped up to fill his place. Dr. William Greathouse led Trevecca through the "decade of challenge." Under his presidency, new buildings were added, curriculum expanded, faculty strengthened, and structure and policies studied. The building of a new cafeteria took the dining hall out of the basement of McKay Hall and the building of new men's dorms took men dorm residents out of the basement of the library.

Yes, Trevecca is here because of God's hand and God's men. He has led her through hard places and through times of prosperity. Now, under the capable leadership of President Mark R. Moome, Trevecca still advances. Closer to accreditation than ever before, Trevecca awaits the decision which will mean so much to her future. Her dedicated president, administration, and faculty are working "above and beyond" the bounds of duty to assure students of a quality education in a uniquely Christian environment.

This is Trevecca. She is the Trevecca of J. O. McClurkan, of C. E. Hardy, of John Benson, of A. B. Mackey, of William Greathouse, and of Mark R. Moore. But, most significant of all, she is my Trevecca. At her altar I found this warm, "easy living" experience of sanctification. In her classrooms I discovered the beauty and unity of knowledge in Jesus Christ. In her dormitories and in her social opportunities I found my own personality, and grew to appreciate the personalities of my associates. This is "my school." I appreciate her rich history, cherish her busy present moments, and anticipate her bright future.

eagerness to serve God and his desire for an education led him to Toconna (Texas) College. But, while he was there, he came into a second crisis encounter with his God, and, under the ministry of Dr. Beverly Carradine, J. O. McClurkan was sanctified. A revival tour brought McClurkan back to Middle Tennessee and providence, in the illness of his son, kept him in Nashville. The revival in the Middle Tennessee area brought glorious results and the subsequent formation of the beautiful Trevecca campus on Gallatin Road prospered. McClurkan's dreams had been fulfilled. He died a young man on September 16, 1914, the opening day of school. Today, we placed flowers on his grave. Let us think of them not as tokens of a dead past, but as a living memorial to a rich heritage that has made Trevecca such an integral part of our lives.

Welcome to TNC Campus

We have been looking for you—you former students, Alumni, parents, and pastors—T.N.C.'s loyal friends and supporters.

The administration, faculty, Alumni, and students have rolled out the Red Carpet for you. Everything is planned with you in mind. Be sure to stroll through every building, meet members of staff and faculty, enjoy the fellowship with the students, and linger with your friends of yesteryear.

We have an outstanding faculty gauged by academic preparation, teaching experience, and spiritual development. They are vitally interested in each student and his development. We want you to get to know these people better. Try to spend some time with them.

We have a great student body. Meet as many of them as time will allow. As you know them better you will find that they have desire, purpose, and determination to make the most of their time and talents.

T.N.C. is on the move. It is a fine college. You have helped to make it so. May this HOME-COMING OCCASION bring you a sense of reward and fulfillment.

Tonight's the night! Trevecca's first homecoming! The game tonight will be a special game, so every co-ed should dress in a special way. The traditional homecoming outfit is a suit worn with a homecoming mum corsage.

The girls of T.N.C. are planning to wear every kind of suit tonight — from soft jersey to beautiful tweeds. Tweeds are really coming on strong this season.

HOPE BLANE

The ideal suit for homecoming will not be too dressy but a suit that has a touch of the casual look. If you have a suit that you think it too "Sunday morning" looking, why not dress it down? Instead of wearing a fancy blouse, wear a turtle neck sweater or striped shell. Shoes will play a big part, so be sure they are casual but special—clonky heels would be perfect. If you have them, complete your outfit with soft kid gloves.

Remember this is a collegiate homecoming so lets dress special to root our team to VICTORY.

ASIS Scholarship Announced

LUXEMBOURG—The American Student Information Service (ASIS) has announced that after 12 years of successful operation it is now able to give scholarships to all students. This means that a number of its standard services will be free of charge from now on.

ASIS will absorb all registration and enrollment fees for students who wish to attend an ASIS-EUROCENTRE language laboratory in Europe and place any student in a paying job of his choice in Europe, arranging all working papers and permits at no charge to the student.

Other free services include 5-country orientation trips (4-days, all accommodations covered by the scholarships), free comprehensive health and accident insurance for 90 days

Meet Some Successful Alumni

By Sharon and Sandra Masters

Honoring alumni is one of the traditional facets of the Homecoming ceremony. It is hoped that through this article our students will be acquainted with outstanding men and women who have graduated from Trevecca. It would be impossible to list all the outstanding alumni, so only a few have been chosen from the many.

One of the first alumni to be considered is our own Mr. Howard Wall, Director of Alumni Affairs and Assistant in Admissions. A native of Raleigh, North Carolina, Mr. Wall holds the A.B. degree from Nazarene Theological Seminary, and has done additional graduate work at Wake Forest University and Duke University. Mr. Wall has pastored for sixteen years, taught in public schools for thirteen years, served as a principal for two years, and held office in the educational associations. He was president of the Trevecca College Alumni Association from 1950-1952 and 1966-1968, and is a former Alumni Representative on the Trevecca Board of Trustees. Mr. Wall designed the Trevecca College Seal and wrote the words to the Trevecca Hymn. Mr. Wall is married to the former Madelyn Paschall of Clarksville, Tennessee, and has one son, Howard T. Wall, III, who is nine years of age.

J. Leon Chambers (Th. B) has served since 1966 as chairman of the Department of Education and Psychology at Gadsden State College, Gadsden, Alabama. Prior to this Dr. Chambers was chairman of the Department of Religion from 1957-1966. His wife, Dr. Mildred Chambers (A.B. '56), was professor of biology at Gadsden State College. Dr. and Mrs. Chambers are now serving on the faculty at Mid-America College.

Terrell (Jack) Sanders (A. B.) and wife, Edrell Whitman Sanders (A. B. '49), are living in Charlotte, North Carolina. Rev. Sanders has been superintendent of the North Carolina District since 1966. T.N.C. alumni figure prominently and apparently function well, on this district, judging from the honors they were awarded at the 1968 district assembly.

Lloyd Griffin (A. B.) is now serving as the alumni representative on the Board of Trustees of Trevecca College. He is employed by the Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association of Nashville as assistant vice-president in public relations. Mr. Griffin was listed in "Who's Who in Tennessee" in 1961. He is married to the former Clarice Spruill.

meaningful as possible. When we are alumni, we will look back on TREVECCA'S first Homecoming as our own. We will remember all of the planning that went into it and the fun we had at our first Homecoming bonfire. Maybe we can even remember winning our first Homecoming ball game. But we too will be caught by the many changes we will see when we return.

Thus, Homecoming is a gala event for the student bonfire, Homecoming Queen, special Artist Series program. But even more so, it is something extra for our alumni—all of the gala events saturated with sentimental memories.

Carolyn Parson (1956) has been appointed by the General Board of the Church of the Nazarene as a missionary nurse to New Guinea. Her professional training is extensive. She received the B.S. Degree in home economics from Tennessee Tech in 1961. She graduated from Mid-State Baptist Hospital in 1966, qualifying as a R.N. She then joined the staff at Mid-State, teaching for one year. She has also had experience in the field of dietetics at Vanderbilt. During 1968-69 she studied at Nazarene Theological Seminary and left for New Guinea in September of 1969.

Outstanding among the successful young business alumni of Trevecca is U. Grant Browning (A.B. '64) who is president of the Par-Lac Corporation of Nashville. While a student at TNC, Mr. Browning was listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." After graduating from Trevecca, he attended Nazarene Theological Seminary receiving the B.D. degree in 1957. He is married to the former Betty Meggs (A.B. '53). They have two daughters, Barbara and Beverly.

Lucille (Mrs. V. E.) Jones is a woman of many talents, unlimited energy, and a multiplicity of interests. After graduating twice from Trevecca, she received a M.A. degree from Peabody College and did further graduate work at the University of Tennessee. She has pastored, held revivals, and done rehabilitation work at the state prison which involves religious services, Bible teaching, and counseling, and assists parolees in securing housing, clothing, and jobs. She also serves as a parole officer. She served as principal of Trevecca Demonstration School and taught English before accepting a position with the Metro-School System, where for six years she has been in special education working with the educably mentally retarded.

Roscoe C. Henderson, (A.B.); M.A., 1950 and Ed. S., 1958, from George Peabody College has the distinction of serving as the principal of McCann School in Nashville which has recently been accredited by the Southern Associations of Colleges and Schools. Mr. Henderson has been working toward this goal for many years. He is a charter member of the 99ers Council for Business and Professional Development for Trevecca College. He also made a large contribution to the upgrading of the Nashville school system through his work on various professional committees. His wife is the former Eva Jean Farmer.

EMPHASIS

by DR. T. E. MARTIN

Welcome Home, You Guys

(With my tongue in my cheek and my fingers crossed)

I once heard a story about a college president who resigned his job to accept appointment to a position of warden of a penitentiary. He said, "At least in my new position I'll not have Alumni coming back to tell me how to run the institution." Now, of course, no one feels that way about the "old grads" who show up for HOMECOMING. In fact, it is kind of nice to see them around if for no other reason than to be reminded how far the school has advanced, or, better yet, to see what has happened to you since you left. Let me try to speak for the students today instead of to them, since I'm not to be around when you read this.

The return of the old timers has a nostalgic challenge to it for we feel the college has had a part in what you've become. We feel just a little pride when we observe all the signs of affluence and influence which you portray. We watch and listen and then tell ourselves that it might happen to us. We fondly hope some day someone might be proud of the fact that we went to school here.

Of course, we are prepared for the head shaking and "tut-tut-ing" that you will do. We are prepared to be reminded how different it was when you were here. We have promised ourselves to smile at the ridiculous rules and restraint you tell us you had when you were here. We shall be sure to look ever so relieved as we thank our stars (or mothers) that we were born in a time when all that has changed.

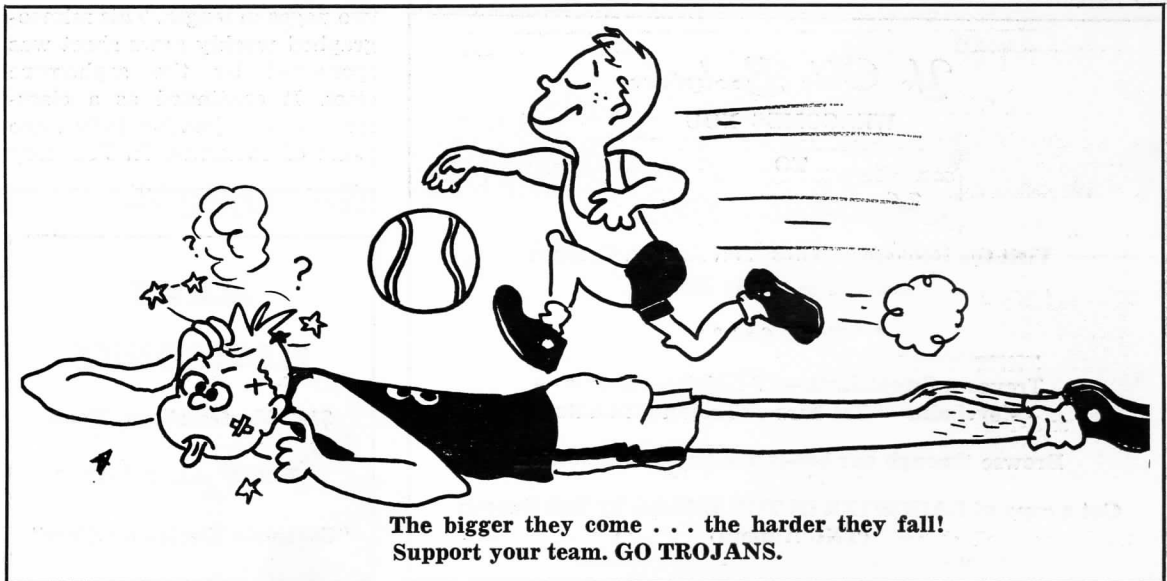

We shall be patient, too, when you recite all the escapades of those exciting days "away back when." At least the telling of them assures us that we are not so "kooky" after all. We may not quite live up to the mark you made in your wildest capers but we will do our best to keep the tradition going. I guess the people who are so upset over what we are doing now did not know what it was like when you were here. You see, we half-believed them and were ashamed of ourselves until you came. Now, we feel better. We listen to you talk and watch you and relax. We're not so different after all and that's comforting.

But, since you are here, there's something we would like to say to you. We may cause a lot of concern to many who don't quite understand us. We try to be honest and we shock people. We want to think and folk complain that we ask too many questions. We want to live meaningful lives and people think we are activists. We must live in our time. We want a world of which we can be proud and we are called revolutionaries. If we are willing to listen to your tales about yesterday, will you listen to our dreams about tomorrow? If you could find God and make worthwhile commitments in the kind of days you describe when you get to reminiscing, can we find God in this kind of living which shocks you?

Welcome you because we both can determine together that God is not dead. He is alive and so in a part of every day. He was so much the answer to your time that you are tempted to think that it takes that kind of time to have God around. Can you understand that we find God especially meaningful in these kind of days? Isn't that what we really mean when we say that God is NOT dead? Don't we mean that these changing and turbulent days are as much His days as were your more conservative days?

Welcome to the "old school" then it has changed a lot—the buildings, the scenery, the activities, but you will find one thing the same. That is, the same, only different. For God is here as much as He ever was anywhere. He is the center of our lives as He was yours. He is the living God and He makes all these things which seem strange to you most meaningful to us. Actually we can't bring ourselves to do things your way because we have found our peace in doing things His way. We don't apologize because we somehow feel that this sense of God at the center of our lives is what we want to have in common to really fulfill Trevecca's tradition.

I think the above is true . . . that's why I say it.

FOCUS: SOCIETY CHEERLEADERS

The four societies of the Trevecca Athletic Association have selected their 1969-70 cheerleaders.

Girls who wished to cheer were required to try out before a panel of judges from their respective society. Cheerleaders were chosen on the basis of their poise, motions, jumps, appearance, and voice projection.

BONER NEW PRESIDENT FOR NASHVILLE F.C.A.

On Saturday, October 18 Bill Boner, athletic director and head basketball coach at Trevecca, was elected President of the Nashville chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. When asked what the Fellowship of Christian Athletes means to him, Coach Boner replied, "It gives me an opportunity to work with a group of Christian laymen with athletic backgrounds as well as Christian athletes. It is also an opportunity to work with high school and college athletes and to teach athletes that they can be a Christian in the world today and that they should witness their convictions to other students."

The FCA began in 1954 when a group of Christian laymen with athletic backgrounds joined together for 3 purposes:

1. Fellowship for spiritual growth
2. To serve the cause of Christ through one's own church
3. To provide opportunities for Christian athletes to witness to the power of God in their lives.

Coach Boner pointed out that the main objective of the Nashville chapter of the FCA is to get a local chapter in every high school and college in the area. It is also the objective of this chapter to plan and provide activities for its members. Plans call for a local chapter to be organized on campus in the near future.

The Trevecca coach listed some of the future activities planned by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes:

- April: Senior High Conference
- May: Father-son worship service
- June: National Conference to be held at Black Mountain, North Carolina

Stuco To Sponsor Olivet Expedition

The 46-passenger Continental Trailways bus for Olivet Nazarene College leaves Trevecca at 5:30 Friday morning, Nov. 21. Bob Brower, Sophomore Class Student Council Representative, is now finalizing plans for the trip to this Varsity Basketball Tournament including four different colleges.

The tournament will begin at 6:00 Friday night with Grand Rapids College vs. Trinity College. Then at 8:00 it will be Trevecca against Olivet. On Saturday night the consolation game will be held at 6:00, and the championship game will begin at 8:00. The entire tournament will cost $2.00.

A variety show is to be held following the game Friday night. Talent from each of the four colleges will be presented. Anyone interested in participating should contact Bob Brower immediately.

When asked about housing accommodations during the visit, Brower stated that he was expecting a letter very soon from the Vice-President of Student Affairs of Olivet confirming reservations within each dorm. Meals will be provided for in the college cafeteria at each individual's expense.

The eight-hour drive back to Nashville will begin immediately following the noon meal Sunday.

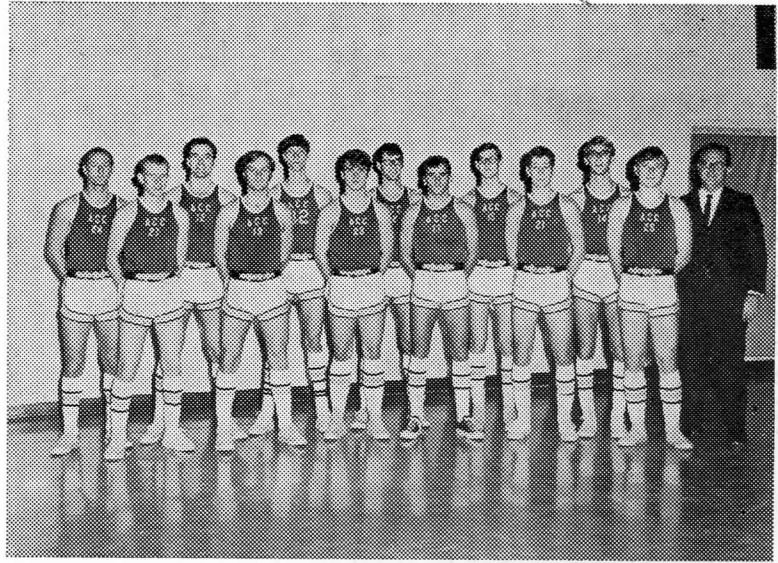

Round trip transportation cost on the bus is only $15.00. About thirty have signed up at this time. Wednesday, Nov. 12 will be the final day reservations can be taken.

TNC To Meet Atlanta Chargers In Homecoming Duel Tonight

The second challenge for the two-year Trojans stacks up in the form of the Atlanta Christian College Chargers. A member of the Southern Christian Conference, the Blue and Gold will be boasting a more experienced number of seasons than the Trojans. The Trojans will be faced with a different problem this game than perhaps in any other this season. Trevecca will have, on the average, a taller team than that of Atlanta. The visiting Chargers will be a young team however, with half of their membership composed of freshman and sophomores. This promises a faster type of ball game than may be expected at other times during the season. Coach Boner sees this team as probably quick and thinks that the press may not be as effective against them as would be like it to be. The young team also is liable to mistakes, Boner also points out, but they usually possess more enthusiasm.

The Trojans look forward to an advantage of another home game. This promises to be the biggest event of the season, Homecoming. Trevecca will have the further advantage of height, one they will not possess often. Boner's basic philosophy of "running and gunning" will still be valid in this game. Boner plans to play tight ball and put the ball on the board as often as possible. The team will be working harder on foul shooting, says Boner, and taking care of the ball by minimizing turnovers. Boner says that the team will be ready for any situation that may confront them. Johnson stacks up to be average competition, he says. When asked about injuries, Boner suggested that the team cannot afford any.

Looking at both sides of a game can give a factual report and one can make healthy conclusions from the date present. But as both opponents will readily admit, anything can happen in competition. From Trojan eyes, Trevecca does not expect to lose this one.

The Trojans host Atlanta Christian Chargers (pictured) tonight for the season's second big game of the season.

Intramural Football Results

Deltas Rip Gammas 29-0

Accurate passing, along with a substantial ground game provided the Deltas with the key to victory over the Gammas. They now lead the other teams with a 3-0-1 record. The first score was the result of a 60 yard pass play from quarterback Bob Guseman to Dick Pinner with Guseman kicking the PAT. Later, after both teams battled up and down the field, Jim Ponce caught a 15 yard pass for the second touchdown. The two point conversion failed and at the half the score was 13-0.

After receiving the kickoff, the Gammas were forced to turn the ball over—and the Deltas rambled to the five. Ponce was called again and hit paydirt on a dive to the left. Guseman kicked the PAT and it was 20-0. Late in the fourth quarter Pinner caught a 35 yard pass and carried it in, but the extra point was nullified by a penalty. The final score was a field goal by Guseman—the first in society ball!

The Gammas played a good hard game with Fred Huff and Phil Pennington jamming up many plays at the line of scrimmage. Many of the Delta passes were fingertip grabs which are nearly impossible to defend. What the Gammas lacked in offensive power was made up for in solid determination.

Rain, Mud Hampers Alphas-Betas

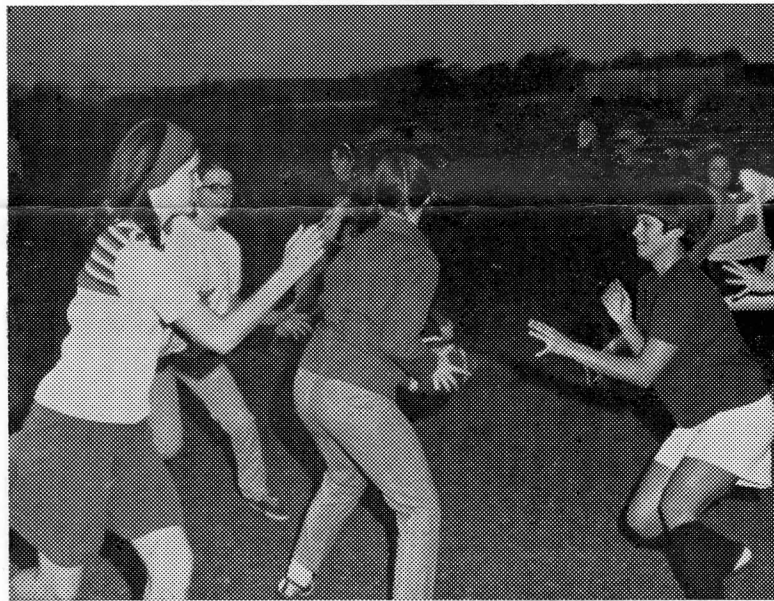

The second and final Alpha-Beta football game of the 1969 season ended in a pointless tie.

Mud and rain set the scene for the Alpha-Beta football game last week. Both teams needed a victory to stay in contention for the championship but, at the end of the game, victory had not come to either team.

A strong defensive game was the primary cause for the 0-0 tie. This is a pattern which has been followed all year. Both the Alphas and the Betas threatened to score several times but neither team could crack the strong defense.

The most exciting play of the day came when the Beta quarterback Bob Newton, fumbled the ball deep in his own backfield. Alpha lineman Curtis Wilson, picked up the fumble and raced toward the goal. Unfortunately for the Alphas, Wilson slipped on the muddy turf ten yards short of the goal line. The Alphas then drove to the one-yard line only to be stopped by the Betas.

Alan Messengille, Bob Newton, Frank Ruckman, Chuck Chambers, and Mendall Spruill kept the Beta defense popping. Ricci Lynn, Preston Ponce, Ken Davis, and David Patterson sparked the Alpha defense.

Bloomer halfback Sharon Cronise hesitates before going into action in the season's first powder puff football game last Friday.

Bloomer—Flapper FB Proves Scoreless

On Friday, November 7, Trevecca's girls had their chance to take the spotlight in the first Powder Puff football game.

At the workout Thursday afternoon the players were divided into two teams. They were then officially named "Bloomers" and "Flappers."

Enthusiasm and team spirit were obvious all through the game. This even lasted through the final score: Bloomers, 0; Flappers, 0.

Bloomers were Mariam Bohler (G), Terri Channell (E),

Sharon Cronise (HB), JoAnne Fulwood (T), Susan Harrison (HB), Lois Henson (T), Brenda Langford (G), Nancy Mackey (QB), Dianne Murphree (T), Kathy Rogers (C), Martha Sartin (E), and Ruth Worley (FB).

Flapper players were Judy Crossman (C), Marilyn Fahl (G), Sandra Greer (T), Lynn Harrison (G), Margaret Headrick (HB), Martha Marrs (HB), Carolyn May (E), Linda Muecke (T), Barbara Sartin (QB), Naomi Sugg (FB), and Lynda Taylor (E).
