

The DARDA
1940

IN MEMORIAM

ROLAND C. PETROWSKI, JR.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Petrowski

Born December 31, 1921

Died February 2, 1940

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For though from out our bourne of
Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar.

—TENNYSON.

THE DARDA

OF 1940

IT IS THE DESIRE OF THE STUDENT BODY IN PRESENTING THIS BOOK THAT ITS READERS MAY CATCH A GREATER VISION OF THE WORTHWHILE WORK WHICH THIS INSTITUTION IS DOING AND THAT WE, HER STUDENTS, IN FUTURE YEARS OF SERVICE MAY FIND THE MEMORY CONNECTED WITH THESE PAGES TO BE A FAITHFUL PROMPTER, INSPIRING US WITH THE UNFAILING COURAGE AND IDEALISM OF OUR BELOVED TREVECCA.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

To these men Trevecca Nazarene College owes much. They have given time and effort to formulate and approve the policies by which the school is run. From all they have done we know that the interests of Trevecca lie close to their hearts. We sincerely appreciate what they are doing toward making Trevecca bigger and better.

MR. MACKEY

"I was tired, homesick, discouraged, and ready to leave, but Professor Mackey smiled at me and I decided to stay. Now I thank God for what Trevecca has meant to me during these two years," said one of our preacher boys not long ago. We can all say that President Mackey has helped us make major decisions by his attitude toward life, his beautiful Christian character, and his kind, quiet words of advice. We can never be the same as we were nor meet the problems of life as we did before being associated with such a man as he. He challenges us so forcibly and irresistibly that we feel that nothing is impossible. Our earnest prayer is that many more young people may be blessed as we have been by coming to know our President, Mr. Mackey.

HERE ARE THE TREVECCA DEANS

M. E. REDFORD

Dean of Theology

A teacher, a preacher, and more; he is a man of sterling Christian character with enough determination to stand for all that is right, true, and pure.

A. L. SNELL

Dean-elect of Trevecca College

An irresistible, dynamic personality which calls forth the best in students and gives them courage and faith in God and themselves.

AMY L. PERSON

Registrar and Acting Dean of Junior College

God made her every whit a woman to sympathize, guide, befriend, and instruct young people in the path of righteousness and holiness.

The president's home, which was built last year, is an attractive addition to our campus. The stone for the building came from our own land. This was a project in student labor. Almost all the labor was performed by students who needed part-time work to pay their expenses.

Snow at Trevecca

It is to such places as these that Trevecca's Christian workers go to carry the message of love to men and women whose souls are more tightly bound by sin than their physical bodies can ever be bound by bars.

Often the students who visit the jails and work houses go away rejoicing over the souls who have found the Lord as their Saviour.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."
—John 3:16.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS AT TREVECCA

If Trevecca were only an educational institution it would be worthwhile, but it is more than that. Young men and women can get training at Trevecca which is not possible in everybody's college, and while they are getting this training they are doing a work which cannot be valued in dollars and cents. Throughout each week and over the week-ends one hundred or more of these boys and girls take part in carrying the gospel to approximately one thousand persons sick in body or soul. These students visit the penal institutions, hospitals, sanitariums, orphanages, and individual homes of the city, and hold street services regularly. To observe Trevecca students engaged in this regular Christian work and to see the passion they have for souls would convince anyone of their sincere consecration and possession of a vital experience of salvation.

No one can estimate the value of this Christian work to the city and state and nation. To help a criminal find the Christ who changes his life means saving the taxpayers' money by cutting out court bills, jail expenses, and damage to public property, besides eliminating the danger to the lives of innocent people.

These Christian workers do a work that ordinary individuals would not do for money; yet they are happy in trying to give to others in part what they have received. At practically every service they see some mother's boy or girl profess faith in the Christ who said, "Whoever will may come and drink of the water of life freely." Every year they have from one thousand to eleven hundred converts. Only the white light of the judgment can reveal the good Trevecca's Christian workers have done.

A few weeks ago in the hospital a man who seemed to be very near death's door said to one of our preacher boys, "I thank God for Trevecca students who take an interest in carrying the gospel of salvation to places which are ordinarily forgotten, for it was in one of their services in the city jail that Christ got hold of my heart and saved me. I'm not afraid of death now." This and other similar statements more than repay Trevecca's Christian workers for all they do. The happiness they enjoy over a soul who finds Christ cannot compare with that which is awaiting them on heaven's shore, for there will be many they helped to Christ shouting around the throne of God.

No other power can mean as much toward making our country's living conditions better as the love of God in the hearts of individuals. Nothing, not even education, can cause a person to hold his head up, take care of his family, and treat his fellow man honestly and squarely except Christ. Nashville has reason to be proud of what the Christian workers of Trevecca College are doing.

Christian Workers Association

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

ON THE CAMPUS

Much has been said of the Christian workers and their work in the city and neighboring towns, but little mention has been made of the religious activities on the campus though it is here in the services that much of the vision of a lost world is realized. Nothing can be more inspirational and soul-stirring than some of the services which have been held here.

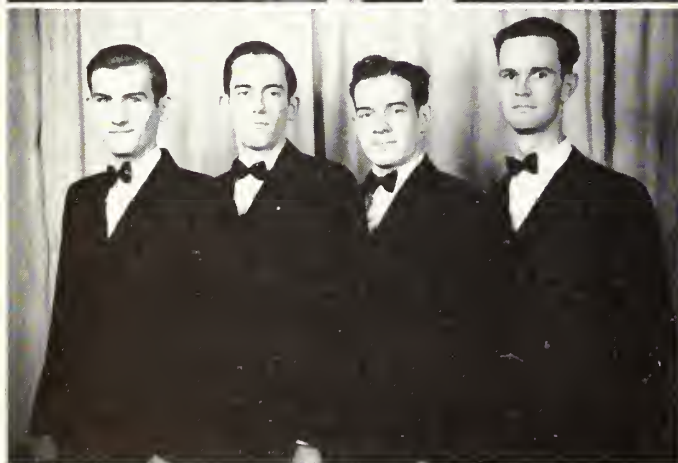

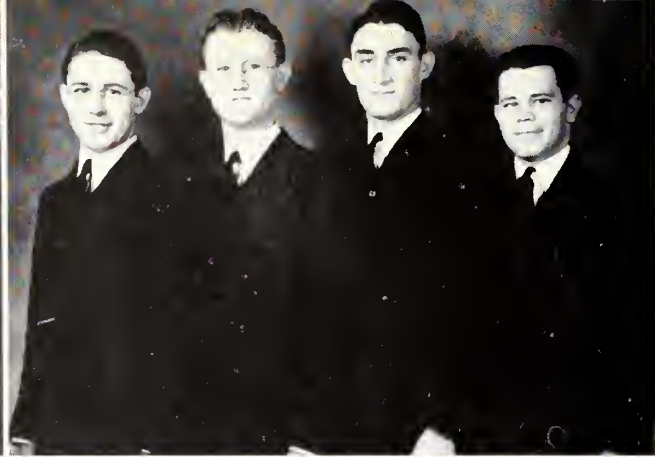

The first religious program of the day on the campus is the chapel service where all the students meet for an hour of worship together. Some of the greatest sermons which have ever come from the lips of man have been heard in our chapel. We have been fortunate this year in having three of the leading preachers in the Nazarene movement give a series of messages during these morning hours of devotion. Dr. J. B. Chapman, General Superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, was with us first; then Dr. C. E. Hardy, former president of Trevecca College; and later Dr. E. P. Ellyson, former General Superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, and Editor of the Sunday school literature. Such messages as were heard on Christian workers' responsibilities, prophecy, and holiness were enough to give anyone a greater vision and more zeal to go forward in the work of the Lord if nothing else were ever said in chapel. However, this is only a part of the whole. Each morning we receive a blessing from those things we hear and are helped to keep steady. The stirring, inspirational talks from our president we cannot forget, and besides that twice each week Rev. H. H. Wise, pastor of the First Nazarene Church in Nashville, lectures and preaches from his thirty years of experience and study of the Bible.

At the close of the day when classes and work are done, the student body assembles for prayer meeting. Nothing can be more beautiful than the spirit of worship which prevails throughout the services. Often a revival spirit breaks out in a regular meeting and shouts of praise ring out from the campus. The prayer services follow a definite program. Wednesday night is called Missionary Night. It is in charge of those who have a special call to foreign and home mission work. Often the speakers are men and women who have spent many years of their lives on mission fields, and their soul-stirring messages give the student body a greater vision of the work to be done. On Thursday night the Holiness League, an auxiliary of the National Association for the Promotion of Holiness, gets special speakers from both on and off the campus. Friday and Saturday prayer meetings are general, and it is here that the student preachers get practice for their work in later life. The general prayer meeting is on Tuesday evening, which all students are required to attend. Usually an outside speaker or a member of the faculty brings the message. Truly prayer meetings are inspirational and worthwhile, for the blessings of God are on the services.

At least once each quarter and sometimes twice, the Ministerial Association, under the direction of the faculty, sponsors a special revival campaign. At the beginning of the third quarter we have already had three series of revival services. The special speakers have been Rev. W. M. Tidwell of Chattanooga First Church, Dr. C. E. Hardy, noted evangelist and former president of Trevecca College, and Rev. H. H. Hooker, well-known evangelist and former district superintendent of the Alabama District. The messages were wonderful and the manifestation of the power of God was upon the services.

Trevecca is indeed a spiritual institution. Almost every hour someone can be heard lifting his voice to God in prayer and thanksgiving. Truly every student of Trevecca College has been blessed by the religious activities on the campus.

CHORUS

The Trevecca College chorus, under the direction of Professor D. A. Yarbrough, deserves much praise. It possesses both quality and quantity, making it a chorus difficult to surpass.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The men are doing splendid work this year. They have given several out-of-town and local programs which have been both inspirational and entertaining.

LADIES' GLEE CLUB

The Ladies' Glee Club contributes much to Trevecca's music department, having made many successful appearances this year. Its present is bright; its future is brighter.

Can you imagine Trevecca without music? It would indeed be difficult, for music is of vital importance at Trevecca. It enables us to soar higher, appreciating the finer qualities of life. Music is appropriate in the happiest moments and on the saddest occasions. It provides rest for the weary and amusement for those who desire to be entertained. It is inspirational in that it spurs us on to higher heights and deeper thinking. May music ever rule and reign in the halls of Trevecca.

MISS BESSIE SEAY, Instructor

The practical nursing class is very fortunate in having for its teacher, Miss Bessie Seay. She was formerly a Nazarene missionary to both India and Africa, and we feel that she possesses the highest of qualifications for this position. Her interest in both girls and boys is now being shown by training the young ladies to care for the sick.

In our first lessons we learned how to take temperature, count the pulse, and the importance of watching the breathing of the patient. Much stress was placed on the attractiveness of the room, how to bathe and dress the patient, and how to make the bed. We were also taught how to arrange food attractively and how to place various articles on a tray. At the present time our class is learning what to do for cuts, burns, bruises, and wounds, and the correct way to dress a wound. We are also learning the different types of medicine that should be given with varying ailments.

The class is looking forward to the remaining part of the school year with Miss Seay. Our next study will be under the heading of "First Aid" which includes bleeding of cuts or wounds, broken bones, dislocated bones, bites of animals, choking, fainting, drowning, poisons, unconscious persons, shock or collapse, and sprains.

We already feel that the knowledge we have gained thus far has been and will be very profitable, not only while we are here in school, where we can practice on the students, but in our future life as well. We have adopted the slogan; The health of each of us depends on the health of all of us.

PRACTICAL NURSING CLASS

Pulse and Heartbeats

Through science—

"We behold the world's creation . . .
And judge of Nature's cunning operation,
How things she formed of a formelless mas;
By knowledge wee do learne our selves to knowe,
And what to man, and what to God wee owe."

A student of biology never forgets the day on which he helps to dissect a cat. To see its heart beat and its lungs expand and contract makes an indelible picture on each pupil's mind.

Debating is a method of testing forensic skill by means of a definite discussion of a specific problem between two sides. When guided by standard rules, this activity develops accurate thinking and effective speaking ability.

Of especial interest to every girl is how to make attractive and practical clothing. The unit of choosing and making clothing is probably one of the most helpful in the Home Economics course, which also includes the preparation of foods, child care, and home management.

MISSIONS

The Missionary Society is an organization of which Trevecca can be justly proud. Since November, Life Membership has been conferred upon four of the faculty members. A large part of the money which helped make this possible has come from the mite boxes on the tables in the dining hall.

HOLINESS

The Holiness League is an auxiliary of the National Association for the Promotion of Holiness. It has been our privilege to have a representative each year at the annual meeting of the association. Our aim is to teach, preach, and live holiness wherever we may be.

PARTHENIAN

The Parthenian Literary Society is composed of all students of college standing. Every two weeks this society presents a program for the entire student body. The purposes of these programs are to elevate, to entertain, and to give the students an opportunity to use and develop their respective talents.

OCTAVIAN

The Octavian Literary Society contributes greatly to the Friday evening programs at Trevecca. Its programs are interesting, entertaining, and educational.

The duty of the staff is to watch the annual grow from mere blank paper to what finally comes to be called the DARDA, "the pearl of wisdom."

There's quite a bit of work and a little bit of fun
Mixed all in before the book is done.

It is the wish of these representatives that all the students of Trevecca College may feel justly proud of their publication and that in years to come it may refresh memories of former days spent in this institution.

On the evening of March 1, Mr. and Mrs. Mackey entertained the DARDA Staff in the living room of their new home. We had more fun—ice cream—'n everything.

AFTER-SOCIAL SESSION

In the boys' dormitory where boys will be boys it is not unusual to hear someone raving—"but tonight she was the c-ut---est thing, and so-o-----," and those around listen attentively. How well they understand!

POSTMAN HERE!

It's mailtime—letters from home? We-l-l, maybe, but when a girl goes off to school she must keep in touch with things back home.

EVERYDAY BUSINESS

A bit of laughter, a bit of fun,
A bit of food; eating's done.

PALS

True friendship binds hearts together and in no matter how small amounts it cannot be bought with dollars and cents.

THESE FOR THE MAILMAN

Of all sad words he penned or spoke,
The saddest are these, "Dear Dad,
I'm broke."

A LITTLE GAME

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy; so good-bye books until the game is over!

HIKING

Even the most studious must have a little recreation, and nothing is more healthful than hiking. If it be true that "Actions speak louder than words," this type of physical exercise is very enjoyable.

Occasionally at Trevecca someone gets "on the fence," and from all appearances here, it's doubles this time. Maybe, though, this could be called "time out," for hikers do get tired.

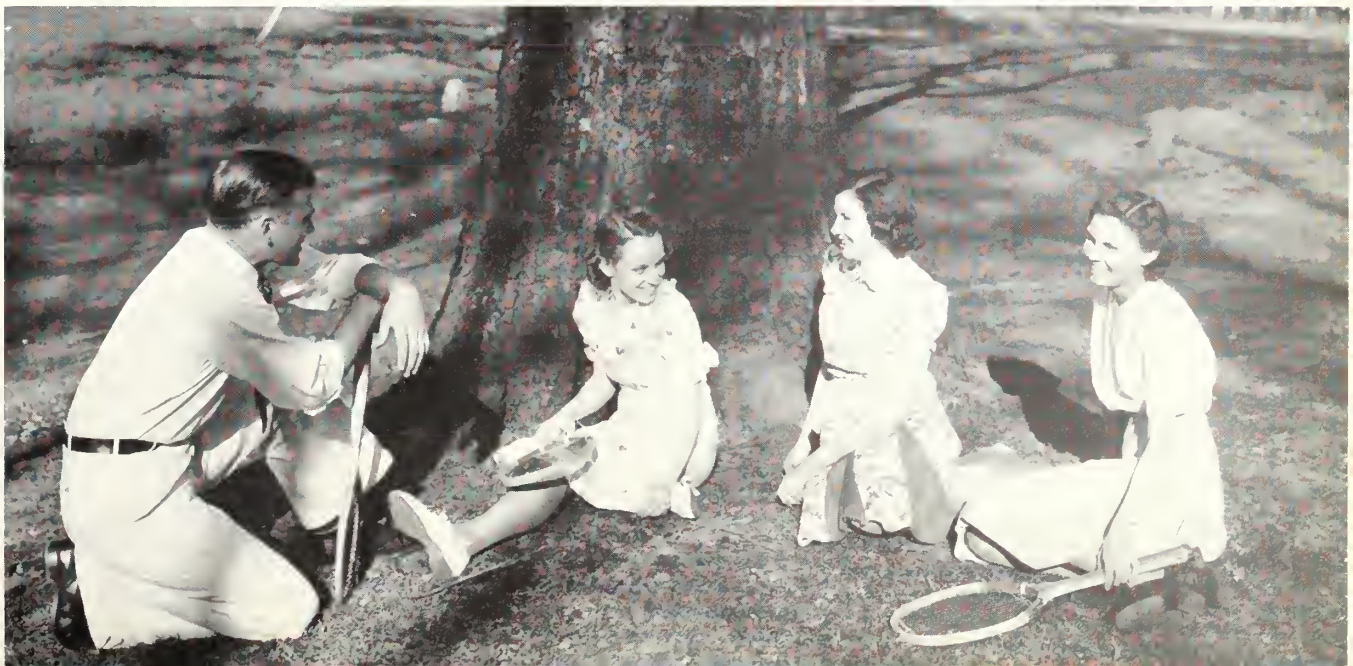

SNOW AND SUNSHINE

Trevecca students do engage in a bit of fun occasionally, and some jolly good times they have, too. During the first big snow of the year the Civil War was re-enacted in a snow fight between the Florida and Kentucky Clubs, but who won is still a question.

When the sun comes out and the grass gets green something gets hold of the students—so off to the tennis court or the shade of a tree they go.

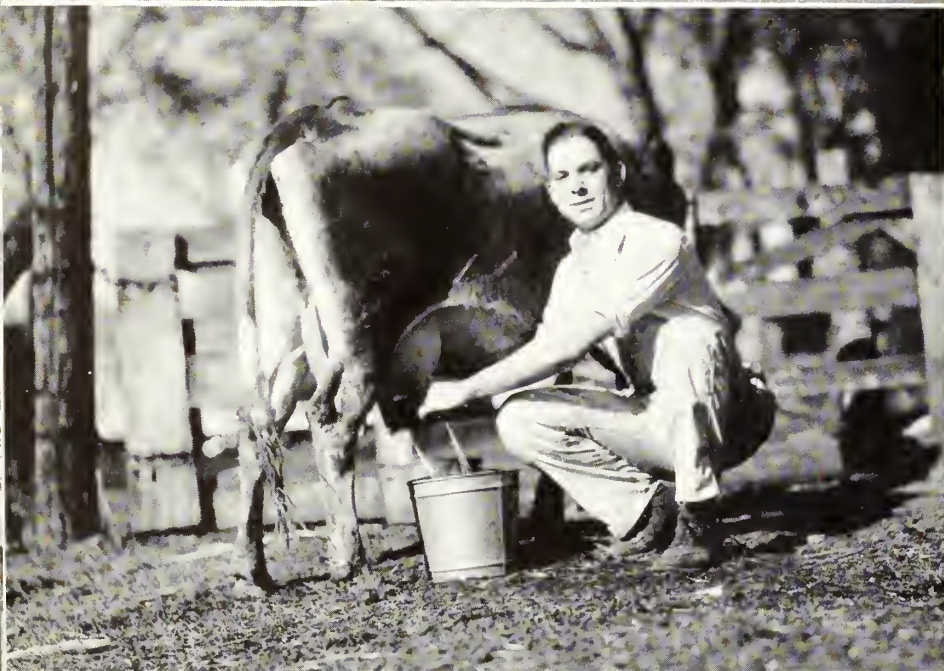

Now sandwiched in between these two extremes, this boy is shining his way into the DARDA on Professor Yarbrough's shoes.

OUT WITH THE TRUCK

Hauling a million things—many of them bricks—affords jobs for a few.

MILKING

Where there's a will there's more than one way for students to work their way through school.

PIG WAITER

Working his way through college waiting tables in the pig pen.

MASONRY

God gave us hands with which to earn a livelihood and enough common sense to use them intelligently.

BEHIND THE SCENES

CLASS POEMS

High School Senior Class Poem

SAILING ONWARD

Out on life's ocean deep and wide
We each are sailing with the tide,
Sailing into depths unknown,
Into waters we call our own.

We build the boat in which we sail;
May we strive to build it well,
Staunch, strong, yes, and best
That will not waver at distress.

The world is our timber yard,
May we never grow weary and tired;
But always level and ever true
To the task we have to do.

May we choose the timbers with greatest care;

Of all that is unsound beware,
For only what is sound and strong
To this vessel shall belong.

Onward we sail on life's sea
Amid the storms and strife that be,
With our Pilot guiding us
We will not doubt, but always trust.

May we ever keep in mind
We do not build for present time,
The timber we use in building today;
Through eternity will never decay.

HENRIETTA PICKLER, Class Poet.

Junior College Senior Class Poem

THE HIGHER THE CLIMB THE BROADER THE VIEW

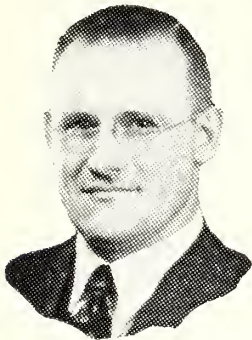

One twilight some students stood waiting
At the foot of Achievement Hill;
At a voice in the distance calling
They grew silent and deathly still.
"Climb higher," they heard from the hilltop.
"Here the view is broader,"—and then
They gazed blankly from one to another
Till someone said, "Let us begin."

Bitter winds blew into their faces
As in darkness they groped their way,
But a star of hope rose before them
To guide them till oncoming day.
Oftentimes on the way they stumbled
Over rocks of discouragement sore
And their feet, pierced by thorns of temptation,
Were bleeding 'neath burdens they bore.

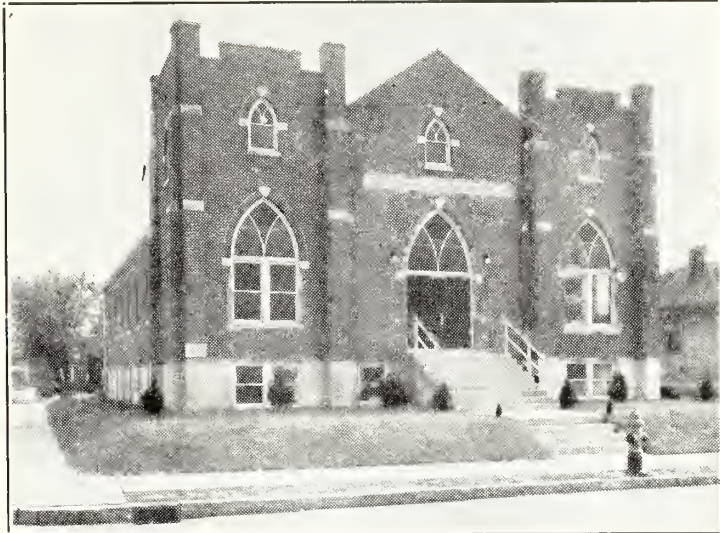

As they slowly ascended the mountain
More arduous and steep grew the track
Until some, growing tired and discouraged,
Said, "Comrades, now let us turn back."
But when they had almost lost courage,
A rose-tinted dawning appeared,
And seizing new hope from that promise,
They climbed to the top with hearts cheered.

Then turning they looked down the mountain,
Remembering each struggle they'd had;
And viewing the scene all about them
Their hearts were made happy and glad.
In praises they lifted their voices
To the One who had guided aright
By bringing them safe thru the darkness
To the morn of His glorious light.
