On a hill stands old

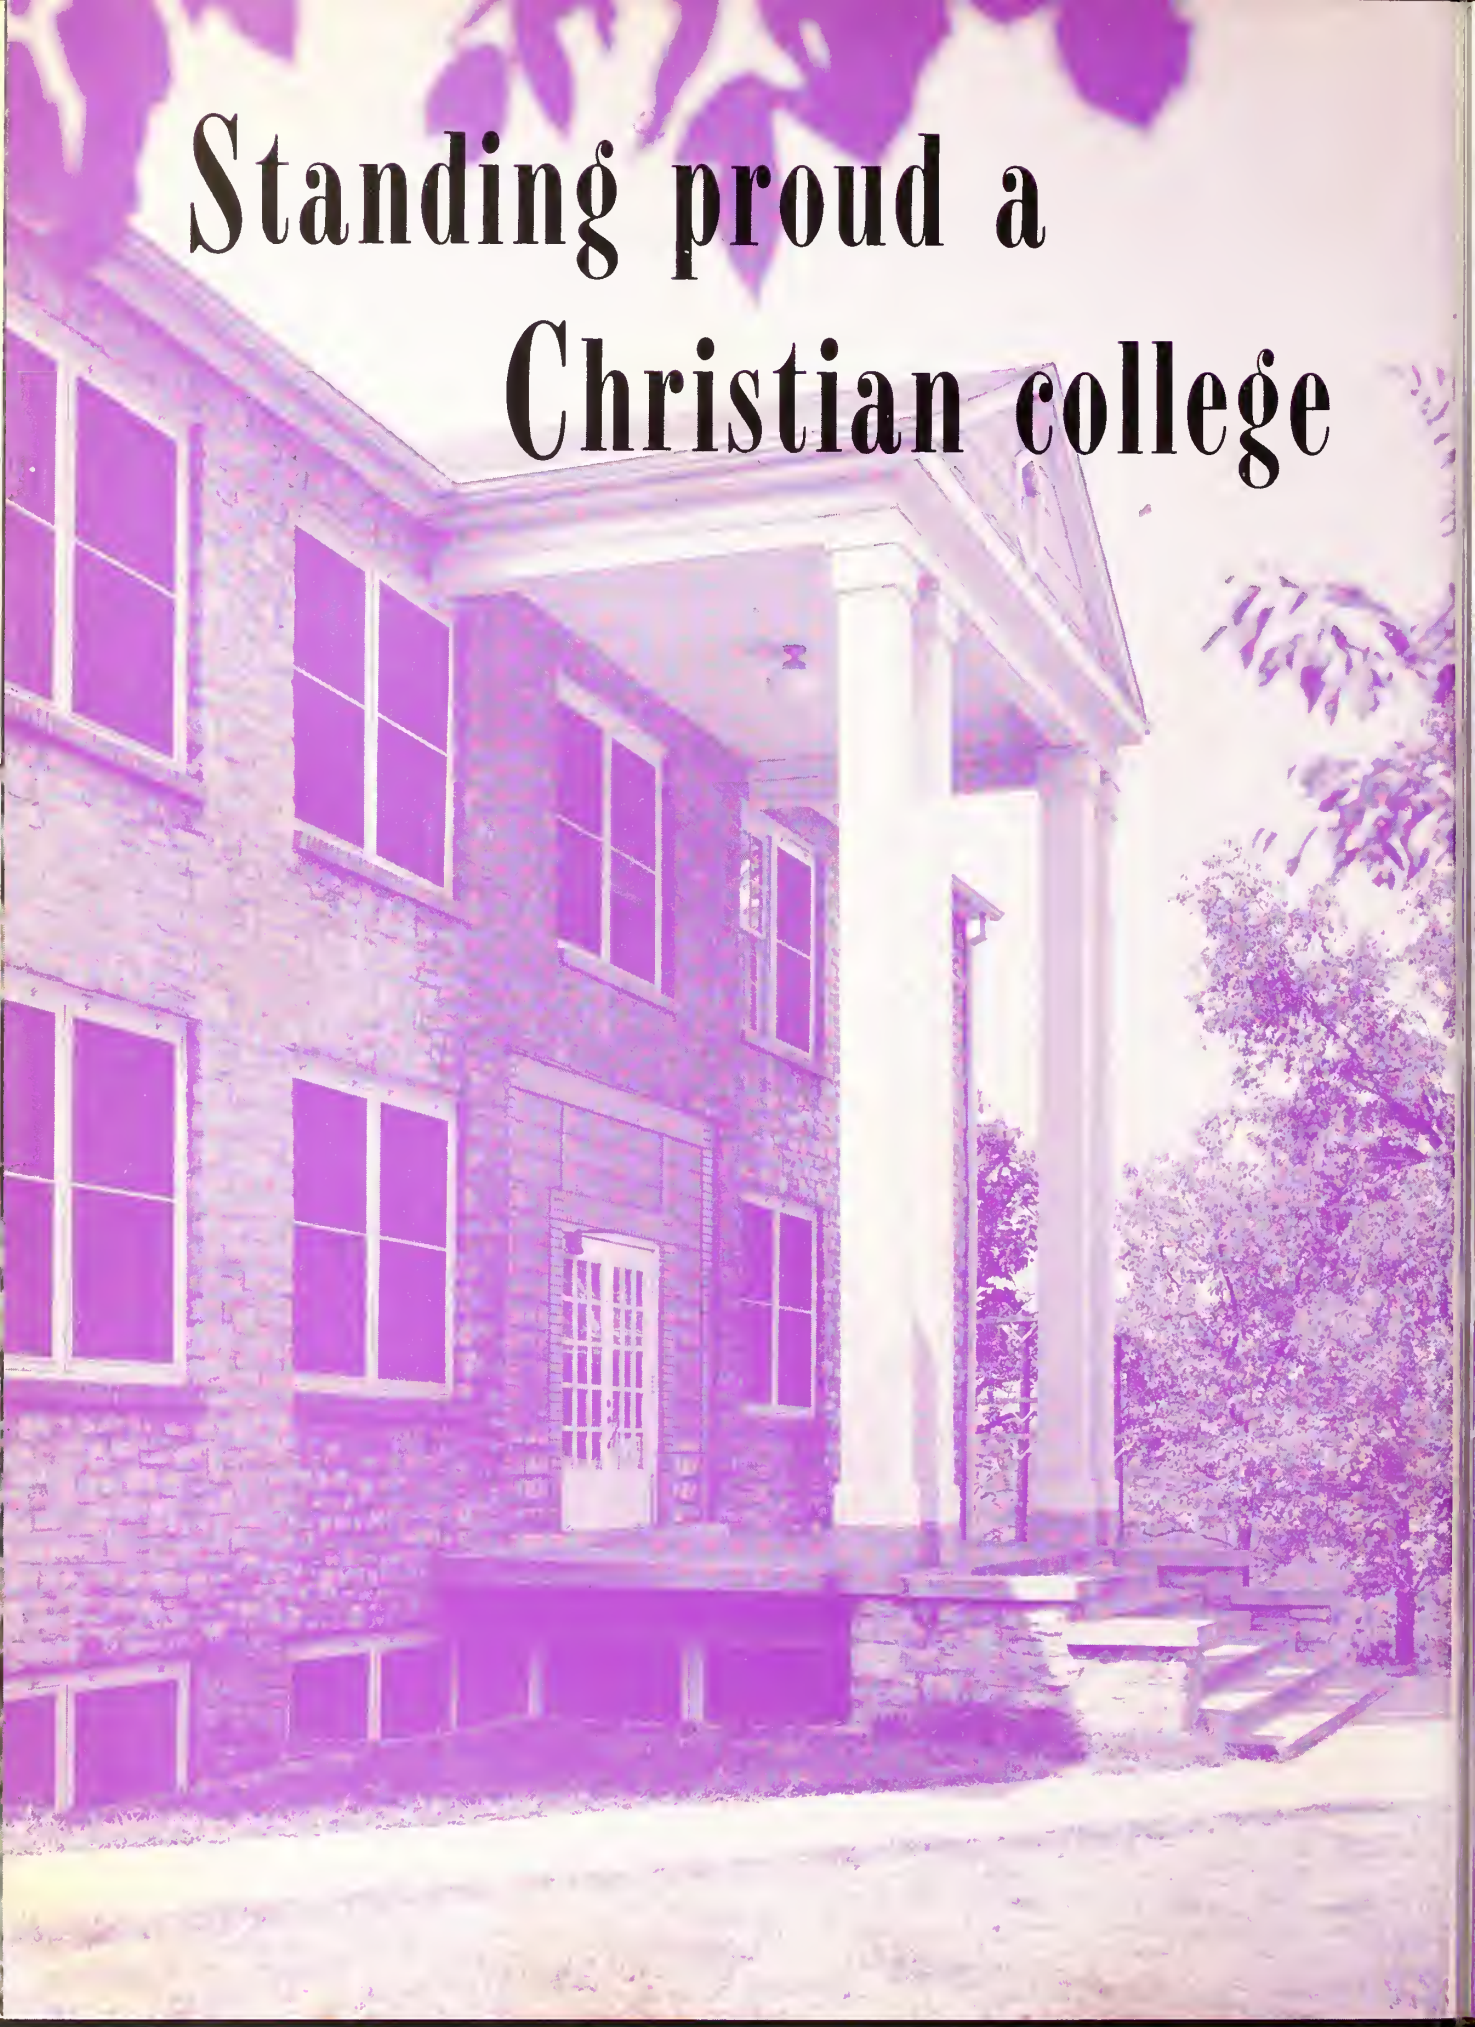

A photograph of a large, leafy tree with a building visible in the background. The tree's branches and leaves are dense and dark, filling most of the frame. The building, which appears to be a multi-story structure with windows, is partially visible on the left side. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. The overall tone is somewhat muted and nostalgic.

Trevecca is located on a hill facing a major thoroughfare that leads to the heart of Nashville. No college has a more beautiful view of the city of Nashville, especially at night when the lighted streets and the neon signs make it possible to recognize from a vantage point at Trevecca the State Capitol Building, each of the downtown hotels, the new Federal Building, U. S. Post Office, and the glow of the lights coloring the sky above the Parthenon. More than from a physical point of view, Trevecca College should be "as a light that is set on a hill that cannot be hid." Her teachings should emphasize the mountaintop spiritual life and should clearly indicate the highway of holiness. Various students are going out to "carry high her banner" of scholarship, business ethics, and Christian ideals. I have lived in the day when it was the common opinion that a Nazarene college was low in scholarship because too much time was spent in praying and preaching, but I have also observed the change that is taking place in the consensus of educational leaders who are now seeing that prayer and faith are outstanding factors in the development of high scholarship. They have been a little slow to recognize the truth of what inspired writers of the Bible said thousands of years ago: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." If Trevecca College continues in the direction she has been going she will train and inspire thousands of young people to climb to the mountain peaks of fame, honor, and happiness.

DEDICATION

Dr. Homer J. Adams
Dean of Arts and Sciences
Trevecca Nazarene College
Nashville, Tennessee

Dear Dr. Adams:

Because of your interest and understanding as Dean of the College . . . because we have watched you in many situations and have found in you those spiritual values, intellectual abilities, and moral ideals to which we aspire . . . because your life exemplifies the fine qualities which we have admired in each member of our faculty and administrative staff . . . because you personify the best that "dear old T.N.C." offers, we are indeed happy to dedicate the DARDA of 1956 to you.

With sincere appreciation,
Darda Staff

FACULTY

The faculty and administrative staff members of Trevecca Nazarene College are among the finest Christian ladies and gentlemen to be found anywhere. Holding degrees from some of the nation's leading colleges and universities, they are adequately equipped to instill within the minds of our young people a thirst for knowledge along with a deeper love for Christ and the church.

K. W. Phillips, Dean of Students, counsels with a new student.

The personnel services at Trevecca College are a purposeful expression of interest in the personal needs and aspirations of the individual student. Even the regular classroom educative processes take on the warmth of Christian love and interest to the extent that counseling relationships come naturally into being between faculty and student. The goal is to provide guidance in accordance with student needs, the program including group and personal counseling for college freshmen, special personnel services for all students, and a student counselor program for the Residence Halls.

LIFE SERVICE

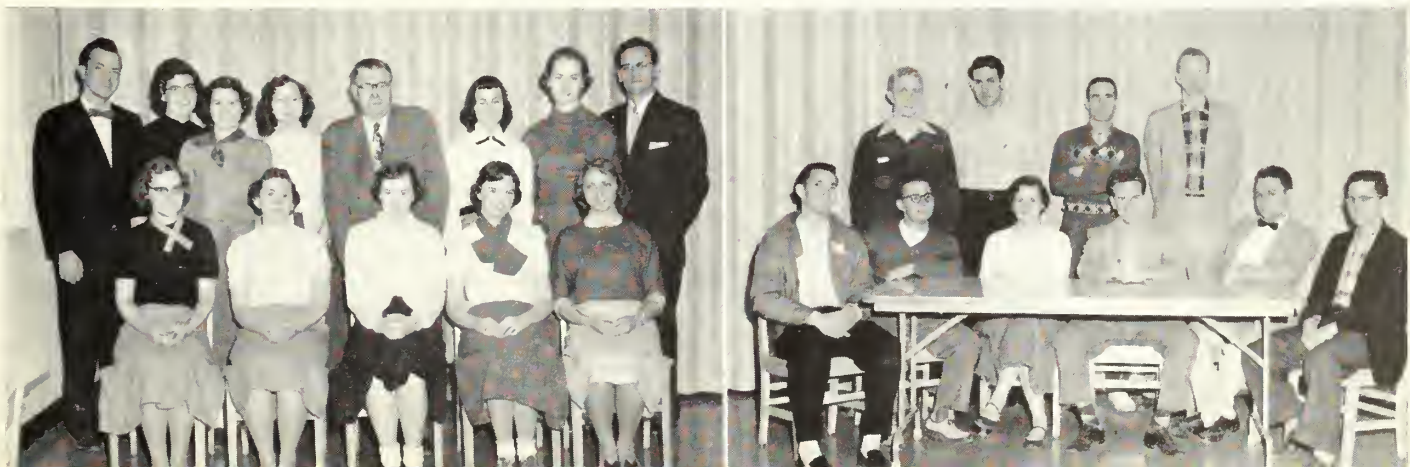

The primary purpose of the Life Service group at Trevecca is to interest young people of the Southeastern Zone to attend our college. Members from the district groups write to juniors and seniors in high school and keep in contact with them throughout the year. Through the influence of last year's Life Service workers, many new students came to Trevecca this year. Recruiting students to attend Trevecca is only one of the many tasks executed by our field representative, C. E. Keys. Through the expansion program, the field work involves visiting the various churches in the zone to secure financial means for building purposes. The field representative is also in charge of advertising and editing the Messenger.

Classification follows the Dewey decimal system. All filing in the card catalog conforms to American Library Association regulations.

Total number of volumes is now 15,500. Emphasis has been on new material in all fields. Audio-visual materials include records, film strip projector and film strips for instructional use in class rooms.

FACILITIES

The library workroom has been redecorated and rearranged, with additional heating facilities and new shelving and storage space installed.

The staff, with the exception of the librarian and assistant librarian, is made up entirely of students who have had training in the freshman Library Science course.

Our library reading room has adequate seating capacity for normal student use. Up-to-date reference material and periodicals are constantly being added.

Glancing back into the "mirror of memories," a procession of vivid mental pictures pass before us. The hayride in the park; "Shine On Harvest Moon"; the successful production of "Little Women" when we were juniors, and the 1955 Valentine Banquet. The highlight of our active junior year was the Junior-Senior banquet—"Moonlight and Roses." This year, despite our hectic senior schedule, we sponsored the most successful Thanksgiving banquet in T. N. C.'s history. And now comprehensives are over, our days at Trevecca have drawn to an end, and with fond regrets mingled with eager anticipation, we close another chapter in our lives and step into an unknown tomorrow—better equipped for having spent four wonderful years at "dear old T. N. C."

Gene's clear blue eyes take on an added sparkle when he talks, whether he is discussing biology, his wife Joyce, or his two young sons, Timmy and Steve. A devout Christian gentleman and an earnest scholar, he has a burning call to the ministry and the ability to answer it. Transferring to Trevecca from Chautauqua Bible Institute in New York two years ago, Gene has made a lasting contribution with his steady life and winning ways.

"Hidden depths that beautify the life," Mildred has intellect, personality, and dependability. Making top grades throughout her college days, she is a wonder when it comes to carrying a heavy load of responsibilities effectively. Her life and teachings have been an inspiration to her class of freshmen at College Hill Sunday School. We know that she will be a blessing as she pursues her chosen teaching field.

Whenever anything goes wrong on campus, whether it is a leaky fountain, a broken chair, or a faulty light fixture, we usually send for Mr. Martin. He receives encouragement and assistance from his wife, Clara, and his daughter, Barbara, the "brain" of THS. His plans for awhile are to stay on his post of duty at Trevecca, and this, combined with his Christian work at Waverly Place Church of the Nazarene, is true service to his fellow man and his Master.

Life in a Nazarene parsonage has been a helpful factor in molding Paul's quiet, earnest disposition. While traveling in the ENC quartet last summer, Paul answered a call to the ministry, and is already well on his way to success, as evidenced in an inspirational chapel message this year. An excellent student, he is making diligent preparation for his life's work.

Christian Workers Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Alabama Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Clio Society 3, 4, Secretary 4, Literary Society 1; Student Library Assistant 3, 4.

Quiet and pleasant, helpful and sincere, Mavis is always faithfully at her post of duty in the library. She has already had a year's experience of elementary school teaching, which she plans to continue for a time after graduation, then she plans to study for a Master's degree. Best wishes, Mavis.

PAUL SHIELDS Albany, Ky.

A.B. Religion

MAA 1; Kentucky Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Ministerial Association 1, 2, 3, 4.

Measuring a full six feet and five inches and tipping the scales at two-hundred and ten, Paul's physical capacity is in keeping with his greatness of heart. Congenial and sporting a sense of humor, Paul is a firm, steady Christian looking forward to full-time Christian service.

Sincere, well-liked, and possessor of a pleasing personality, Mickie's Christian influence will live on long after he leaves Trevecca campus and enters the full-time ministry. A little dark-haired, black-eyed South Carolina miss with a pleasant southern drawl seems to have smiled her way into his heart. We predict a bright, promising future for this consistent young man.

JASPER WHITE Nashville, Tenn.

A.B. History

Ministerial Association 4; Tennessee Club 3, 4; Clio Society 2, 3; Basketball 2, 3.

Assuming new responsibilities when he took to himself a wife two years ago, Jasper has proven himself equal to the task of being a good student and a devoted husband. Already filling a pastorate in Union City, Tennessee, Jasper is a successful minister of the Word.

Last September we boasted, "Upper-classmen at last!" Since then new responsibilities have made us a wiser group in many ways. We not only look to the future as seniors, but at times our minds reminisce of the good old freshman and sophomore days. That first year was the most difficult, but finally we settled down to routine, solving the cake code and presenting a seventy-five dollar gift to the school. As sophomores our days were full as we played our "big brother and sister" role and prepared a stickler cake code. Memories this year include a get-acquainted social in the fall, the scary Halloween party, and the hectic, topsy-turvy week inaugurating leap year. For months now the banquet committee has been working diligently on the traditional Junior-Senior banquet. Our "jolly-junior" days have ended and with God's guidance, we expect our senior year to be the best ever.

PLANNING COMMITTEE

WAITING FOR SOMEONE?

CAUGHT THIS TIME!

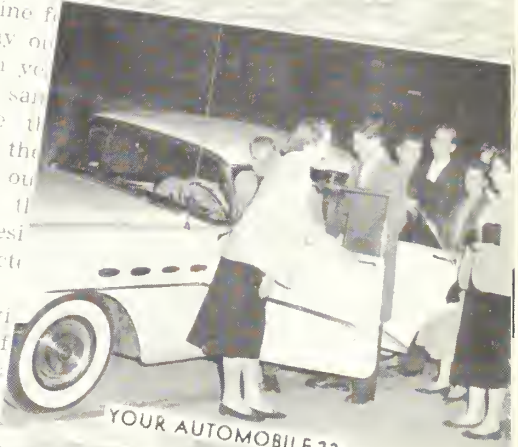

"Turn About Was Fair Play"!

Last week the Junior Class sponsored a week of sunshine for Trevecca boys. Day in, day out, week in, week out, year in, year out, ordinarily it is the same old story. The boys take the girls out, they pay the bills, they open doors and walk on the outside. However, last week the girls performed all the courtesies and attentions usually expected from the boys.

The week was climaxed with an evening in the college cafeteria, which included refreshments, musical numbers.

The hectic, topsy-turvy week allowed the girls to appreciate their male friends more, and to really see how many taken-for-granted courtesies they unconsciously perform.

The Junior Class was pleased with the co-operation on the part of the students, and they feel that perhaps much good was accomplished underneath the lighter vein of the week. Even though it seemed to be an enjoyable week, the girls are probably happy to settle down to their regular dating routine.

CLASS

College days were here with all their activities and studies, and we plunged into the midst of them soon after our arrival in the fall of 1954. Our freshman year was filled to the brim with class outings, banquets, programs, revivals, and general activities, the only sad event in our enthusiastic lives being the unsolved cake code! As sophomores we have continued eagerly in the way, sponsoring the Valentine Banquet (Stairways To The Stars), which was a huge success, having the largest attendance in many years, set forth a cake code which was a brain-teaser for the freshmen, and presented our successful class play, "Your Town and Mine." Now we are juniors, but the past two years will never be forgotten in our memory book of college days.

C L A S S

What a hilarious week! Initiation, a crowning point in our new days at college, was just one of the big events brightening our lives. We were novices in learning the "do's" and "don'ts" at Trevecca, but by the winter quarter we were feeling like veterans.

With enthusiasm the class swung into the spirit of social occasions, the first being the very enlightening tour of Nashville. Any talent scouts in the house the night of the Freshman Talent Program would surely have found their pick. Another feather in our cap was the annual Christmas Party—a big success. Proudly we have reached our goal set at the beginning of the year—to be the most cooperative and active class in the college. Humbly we held high the banner of Christ and we all grew immensely in our Christian experiences. It has been a memorable year!

T. N. C.'s campus takes on a verdant new loveliness in the summertime, with her magnolia shaded walks, green foliage, and sloping grassy lawn. Students, faculty, and office force all seem to be one big, happy family as they work, study, and relax together. Summer school offers an opportunity for students to get in extra hours for graduation, or to take courses which cannot be worked in during the regular school term.

From the tops of their short crew cuts to the soles of their scuffed-up loafers, they are typical American high school students with the usual fads and fancies. However, there is one outstanding distinction—they are Christian boys and girls, growing "in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man." We give special tribute to our high school faculty and student body for the part they have played in making Trevecca the type of institution she is.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT COUNCIL

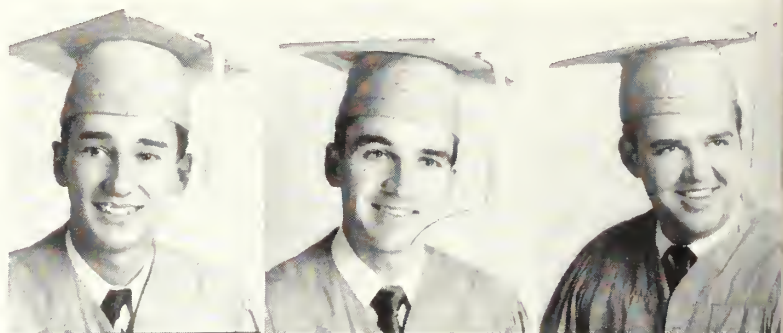

A big step in the direction of more independence in high school was the establishment this year of the High School Student Council. Frequently on the agenda for the bi-weekly business meetings was the blueprint for formation of high school clubs. Under the capable leadership of president

Sonny Pope, the council has laid a foundation for the future success of these organizations. The council presented a trophy to the class of the year, which purports to be an annual high school tradition. Scholastically, spiritually, and socially, this has been one of the best years in the history of T. H. S.

TEACHER TRAINING

Accredited by the State of Tennessee as a four-year teacher training institution, Trevecca offers her graduates the prospect of going into public schools as teachers, with an equal opportunity to receive the same salary and consideration as that of graduates from the finest teacher training colleges in the country. Practice teaching is available on our own campus. Education and Psychology classes are among the largest ones in the college.

Introduction to Education class, which gives prospective teachers a good background in fundamentals of education.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

This has been a good year at T. N. C. With the opening of the fall revival under the consecrated ministry of Rev. C. William Ellwanger, pastor of Roanoke, Virginia First Church, a revival spirit seemed to catch fire on our campus, continuing to manifest itself throughout the year—even during the sometimes monotonous routine of everyday life. We have been fortunate in having some of the best preachers, missionaries, and lay workers in our movement to speak to us in the daily chapel services. Truly, God has blessed Trevecca during 1955-56.

REVIVALS AND LECTURES

DR. JOHN CHURCH
Benson Lecturer

REV. CHARLES H. STRICKLAND
Student Council Lecturer

The Benson Lectures are sponsored annually by John T. Benson, Jr., in memory of his father, the late John T. Benson, Sr. This year Dr. John Church, well-known Methodist evangelist, brought a series of instructive messages, challenging the overflow audiences to a life of deeper consecration. His series of eight sermons made a deep impression upon the hearts of faculty and students alike.

Another annual lecture series at T.N.C. are the Student Council Lectures, the speaker being chosen and sponsored by Trevecca's Student Council. Rev. Charles Strickland, Superintendent of the white work in South Africa, brought a series of messages about the economic, social, and spiritual problems our missionaries face in this needy field.

Socials, daily practices, plenty of lung exercises, and patient perseverance mark the day by day progress of the a capella choir, truly a sterling representative of "dear old T. N. C." Besides making various public appearances throughout the year, the choir made a two week tour in April to the deep South, traveling as far as Miami, Florida. The spiritual quality of the group will long be retained in the hearts of the Nazarene people.

Thousands of Nazarene young people over the Southeastern Educational Zone first come into contact with our college through the musical groups which are sent out under the direction of Rev. C. E. Keys, field representative. During the month of February two ladies' trios traveled through the state of Florida. Others went out at various times during the year for weekend trips representing the college. Five groups will go out this summer, and one selected quartet will represent Trevecca at the General Assembly.

The Christian Workers Association of Trevecca is as old as the college. It was instituted by Rev. J. O. McClurkan with the chief purpose of teaching others how to win souls. One of the most active groups in the school, the organization sponsors services weekly at the county and city workhouses, county jail, juvenile court, one rest home, and various other places. Two nights a week street services are held in downtown Nashville. Continual reports of victory this past year show how God has richly blessed the Christian work with the greatest results recorded for many years.

Proving that students who pray together can play together, the M.A.A. had a successful year in 1955-56 under the capable leadership of President Harold Hughes. The M.A.A. sponsored the first ping-pong tournament in Trevecca's history this winter, which was lauded as a big success. Leroy Garber and Judy Wallace captured the singles championships, and the Calkin-Garber team took the doubles. Track season made its debut at T. N. C., and got underway in full style third quarter. The Men's Athletic Association, fifty strong, is one of the vital parts of Christian fellowship and education at Trevecca.

Close games added to the excitement of Trevecca's 1955 football season. The teamwork, unity, and cooperative spirit of the powerful Sophomore team this year gave them the Trevecca College football championship, as well as an undefeated season. Moody Gunter, captain of the Sophomores, led all scoring with 117 points. Larry Finger, Upperclassman star, followed close behind with 115. The Sophomores set a new record by swamping the All-Stars 56-7, thus compiling the highest score ever in the T-Bowl game. Ed Whittington made four touchdowns and an extra point on passes from Moody Gunter to rack up almost half the score. The other touchdowns came by way of Pyles, Hartsell, and Gunter. High Schooler Bruce Kelly hit Upperclassman Larry Finger on the goal for the only All-Star touchdown.

An active governmental organization of our college is the Student Council. Its primary duties include the direction of periodic organization of student clubs, co-ordination of student activities of the year, assisting in planning Friday night programs, and acting as the chief agency of liaison between faculty and students. This year marks the beginning of the Council's participation as a member of the Tennessee Association of Collegiate Student Governments.

In place of State Clubs the Council this year organized District Clubs to better serve our expanding Southeastern Educational Zone. Because of increased automobile traffic on the campus, a system of faculty and student parking was instigated. The student organizations participated in the Council's general project of supplying the library with necessary reference materials and film strips. In these and many other ways the Student Council has endeavored to foster and maintain the aims, ideals and standards of Trevecca Nazarene College.

THE TREV -

"A nose for news" could well be the byword of the staff of Trevecca's bi-monthly publication, Trev-Echoes. Since 1945 this up-to-date newspaper, with its loyal and hardworking staff has been the mirror of campus life. Through the years its editors have striven for better and more inviting publications, and 1956 has seen some of the best efforts. Assigning articles, proofreading, taking ads, drawing up the dummy, trying to get a review of all the news are some of the tasks behind the scenes. The editorial advisor, Mrs. K. W. Phillips, puts the final touches on the publication before it goes to press. With a circulation of over five hundred, Trev-Echoes is not only in demand on the campus, but it is also regularly received by district superintendents of the Southeastern Educational Zone and the families and friends of Trevecca. Truly, it is the "Echoes of Trevecca."

1956 D A R D A

The long-awaited moment finally arrived when we packed off the last bit of manuscript and excitedly exclaimed, "The DARDA has gone to press!" This was the culmination of many months of hard work, long hours, and brain-racking plans, but all that has been forgotten as we present to you, the students and faculty of T. N. C., our 1956 DARDA with a sincere prayer that in it we have captured cherished memories of this year at Trevecca. In our theme we have tried to enhance the lines of our school song in order to give them a deeper meaning and we shall feel that all our work has been profitable if we have successfully accomplished this purpose.

Gathering each Thursday evening in the College Cafeteria, these wives of Trevecca students meet primarily for the purpose of preparing to become better preachers' wives. This year they have been using as a study guide a book entitled The Shepherdess. The organization also gives them opportunity to develop socially as they take time out from their busy schedules for an evening of fellowship.

"WAKIE"

I am indebted to T.N.C.
for sending the quartet in 1932 for a home mission campaign in West Nashville.

SOMEONE KNOCKED ON MY DOOR

Someone knocked on my door; it was a dreary, rainy day.
I did not know the man, so I had but little to say.
I don't remember how he came; it matters not very much—I guess.
But he found a heart so hungry, for my life was in a mess.
He smiled—I could see he was happy, and I stood wondering shy,
"We just stopped by to see you as we were passing by.
Won't you come to the home mission campaign?
Won't you come and help us sing."
I was glad for the invitation; I told him others I would bring.
As he turned away from my door, I wanted the man of God to talk some more.
I saw he had the Master's love, trying to win a soul for heaven above.
I made up my mind I would go over that night,
When we got there they were singing—my, my what a sight!
Some were crying, some were shouting out loud;
I did not like it much—I was too stinking proud.
The man of God preached as only A. E. Kelly can
He talked of Heaven, then of Hell until I almost ran.
Then I saw them hit the altar one by one
Most of the people prayed until the job was done.
They found peace and joy for their troubled hearts.
I said "That's what I want," but I didn't know how to make the start.
But I hit the altar—I went there to stay
Pulled the shoes off my feet—they were hurting that day.
I thought the meaner you were, the more you'll have to pray,
I started to tell the Lord I would stay there all day.
About that time the Lord from Heaven above,
Gave me peace and joy and filled my heart with love.
I found the Saviour so dear to all;
The One who can keep us and never let us fall.
Praise God today and forever more
For sending a man to knock at my door.
It meant but little for him to knock it—stranger's door.
But it meant Heaven for Old Wakefield and the peace of God forevermore.

BOOSTERS CLUB

This year as in the past your staff has endeavored to provide students, faculty, and friends of T.N.C. with a true representation of life as we have lived it at Trevecca in 1955-56. Although the persons whose names appear below did not sit in classes, attend chapel, eat in the cafeteria nor witness our athletic events, they did contribute to the success and happiness of us who enjoyed these opportunities. They are BOOSTERS OF THE YEAR FOR T.N.C.
