COLLEGE PLANS NEW BUILDINGS

PROPHET COMPANY PREPARES THE FOOD

This past spring one of our sister Nazarene colleges recommended the Prophet Co. to Trevecca's President, Dr. William M. Greathouse. Because of this suggestion, Dr. Greathouse contacted one of their representatives, and was able to make an agreement about the use of their services.

The Prophet Company is a nationwide concern which prepares food for twenty-eight colleges and universities, a host of Boy Scout camps, and many large corporations. Some other locations to which they cater in Nashville are the Methodist Board of Education, American Savings Bank, and Western Electric.

Trevecca has a contract with the Prophet Co. to pay them a set amount for each week that they cater to the college. In addition, the college must guarantee and pay for both costs of labor and food. Any profit which accrues use of the facilities of the cafeteria is given to the college. If there is any loss in the sense that the sale of food does not cover the cost of operation, then the college must pay the difference.

When money is spent in the cafeteria, if there are any profits, it will come back to the students by way of better facilities, better curriculum, or a better college all around. To support the cafeteria means you are supporting the college.

According to Mr. Anthony Cinella, a qualified traveling chef of the company, 800 to 1,000 meals are served each day in the cafeteria. This denotes some eighty per cent cooperation from the student body. Over 200 lbs. of meat and potatoes are bought locally each day and prepared in our own kitchen.

The food is prepared according to set recipes that are made at the Prophet's test kitchen in Detroit, Michigan, which is operated at a cost of $250,000 a year. The menu is cooked to suit southern tastes. Deviation from the recipe is not allowed. The goal of the company is to serve the best quality food at the most competitive prices. "Quality of Control, Control of Quality," and "If you cannot eat it, do not serve it," are two mottos of the catering service.

Mr. Cinella, who has been a chef for 25 years, is a supervising chef for the Prophet Co. He travels around the country serving as an inspector and "troubleshooter." He stated that the company is bound to maintain a high standard of food preparation. "We're going to make some mistakes," he said, "and any complaint brought before the Food Committee—Prof. Dix, Dr. Wise, John Sugg, Suzanna McManus, or Mr. Pete Fanzzo the local manager, will be corrected, if possible. We would like to have mass reaction for a fair operation."

The Prophet Company is acting as an integral part of the school. They make suggestions to and take suggestions from the school. Student labor is used extensively. They have hopes of making the meal-time atmosphere like that at home. When asked about the relationship with the school, Mr. Cinella said it has been a wonderful experience, "I have not met anyone as polite as the faculty and students of Trevecca."

BULLETIN

To celebrate their 45th birthday, the Prophet Company will offer a specially prepared and priced luncheon on October 22. The meal will consist of roast turkey and dressing, brown giblet gravy, whole cranberry sauce, snow flake potatoes, buttered fresh new peas, tossed salad of fresh garden greens, hot dinner roll and butter, choice of drink, and ANNIVERSARY CAKE. The bargain of the year is 45 cents!!!

Architect's conception of proposed $349,000 Physical Education Building.

The Trevecca Board of Trustees has authorized a three step construction plan which includes one new building and reconstruction and repair of two others.

Step number one in the plan will be the construction of a physical education building. The cost of the physical education building proper will be approximately $277,674, while the swimming pool addition would add another $71,654 making the total structure cost approximately $349,328.

Upon completion, the spacious entrance will open into the main lobby of the first floor. On this level will be the contest playing area which will be 50' wide by 94' long. When not in use, the court will seat 528 persons. Other facilities on the first floor will be dressing rooms and rest rooms. In connection with the court, at an elevated level to the left (viewing the building from the front), will be the stage which will be the scene of plays, programs, and special speakers.

The largest area on the basement level is the swimming pool area. This addition to the basement proper will be built of quarry tile, 35' wide by 60' long with concrete walls painted above the water line. It will have an area of 5,340 square feet, while the entire lower floor will give an area of 10,622 square feet. This will give a total of 28,962 square feet including the main floor of 13,000 square feet. Other facilities on this level will be shower rooms, exercise rooms, lecture rooms, first aid stations, the boiler room, and other storage areas.

The view of the exterior of the main building will be balanced by a lobby on the left and the swimming pool addition on the right (looking at the building lengthwise from the front). The entire structure is approximately 175' in length fronting Lester Avenue where the tennis court is presently located. A time schedule for completion has not yet been confirmed, but the Board of Trustees has authorized the administration to begin construction when $100,000 is on hand.

The next step of the building plan concerns Tidwell Hall. Trevecca voted to employ Rev. Lowell Clyburn, a recent Trevecca graduate, as dormitory maintenance man with the specific assignment of redecorating and remodeling Tidwell Hall in a three-stage program.

Phase one includes painting the interior and correcting all plumbing and electrical problems as well as other minor repairs.

Phase two is to be accomplished later during the winter and includes furnishing the rooms with new dormitory furniture such as beds, chests shelves, etc.

Phase three will include new wooden doors, celotex ceilings, fluorescent light fixtures, and possibly a new stairway leading directly from the first floor to the basement.

According to Trevecca's President, Dr. Greathouse, this project should be completed by the summer of 1965 and will bring Tidwell Hall up to the living standards which Trevecca desires for all its residents.

The final step concerns housing. The Board of Trustees has approved the addition of a second floor to the present building housing the facilities of the cafeteria. According to the plans of Trevecca's architect, Miller, Patton and Associates of Nashville, the addition will house forty-eight men in residence quarters.

The plans also call for brick veneering the present structure as well as the new second floor, and will provide an adequate new entrance.

The partitions between the rooms will be constructed in such a manner that they can be removed in order to allow the area to be converted to larger rooms for a student union facility in the future. This school year, however, it will be used as an "over-flow" dormitory for men's quarters.

The Rev. Edward F. Cox, president of the Alumni Association, is presenting a program to the Alumni Council to furnish this project with new dormitory furniture for approximately $10,000. This would furnish the new second-story addition in a manner comparable to that of Johnson Hall.

Also in the planning stages are several new dormitories including an apartment-type building for married students.

S. C. SENATOR VISITS CAMPUS

Republican Senator Strom Thurmond from South Carolina was the special speaker during the chapel service of Tuesday, October 6. The Senator was visiting Nashville to speak on behalf of Republican candidates in the November elections. Mr. Thurmond received a standing ovation when he arrived on the platform. He was accompanied by local and state Republican leaders.

Senator Thurmond commended the student body for getting their college education. He said that having a good education was of primary importance in trying to get along with all people. He also issued a challenge to the students to become involved in the election. Mr. Thurmond told the ones who were registered to be sure to vote. He also told all of the students to select the candidates they thought were right, and work with increasing effort to get those candidates elected. He said the outcome of this election will greatly influence our lives in the future.

"Next to God," Thurmond declared, "freedom is the most important word we know, and freedom is the foremost objective of the principles upon which our nation was founded."

Senator Thurmond spoke at a $10 a plate luncheon at a local hotel, on the local T.V. stations, at a press conference, and at Vanderbilt University. Later in the day, he spoke in Jackson and Memphis Tennessee.

In the near future, equal chapel time will be given to a spokesman from the Democratic party for him to present the views of his party that will play a part in the forthcoming election.

LAWLOR TO HOLD CHAPEL SERVICES

Dr. Edward Lawlor

The Rev. Edward Lawlor, executive secretary of the Department of Evangelism in the Church of the Nazarene, will be speaking to the T.N.C. student body in chapel during the week of October 26 thru October 30.

Dr. Lawlor will be in Nashville during that week to conduct a revival at First Church of the Nazarene. Dr. Lawlor was in Nashville two years ago when he spoke at the Tennessee District preacher's meeting. He also spoke in chapel that year.

Prior to election to the general church office in June 1960, he served since 1946 as superintendent of the Canada West district of the denomination, comprising churches in the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Widely known in holiness circles for emphasis on evangelism, Mr. Lawlor conducted revival campaigns in 1958 in the British Isles and has been speaker at leading camp meetings in the U.S. and Canada.

He was elected to the district superintendency after seven years as pastor of Calgary First Church where his evangelistic ministry brought crowds. He broadcast radio programs and was active in the provincial Youth for Christ program.

He pastored at Shackleton, Saskatchewan, and Picture Butte, Alberta, and worked a year with the Alaskan Indians. He was program director for the Y.M.C.A. prior to his work in the ministry.

Mr. Lawlor was born in Yorkshire, England, and converted from Roman Catholicism as a youth.

Myron Wise Relates South American Tour

Not until we sang the NYPS theme chorus, "Into the Word . . . Onto the World" at the General NYPS convention did we, the Nazarene Evangelistic Ambassadors actually realize the great honor and responsibility that was ours. We had just known each other for a few hours, but our hearts were knitted together by the Holy Spirit.

The N.E.A. program was especially unique, since here were two Nazarene College groups each comprised of one young man from each of our seven Nazarene Colleges. What a fellowship we had as a group! I found that these young men were just as devoted to God as are my fellow students here at Trevecca.

Why the N.E.A. Program? The General Church gave three reasons: (1) To draw the Church of the Nazarene (International) closer together, (2) to encourage evangelism on the various fields, and (3) to

A NEW LOOK

At the Student Leadership Conference on September 24, a committee was organized to discuss the religious aspect of our college life. Ken Walker headed this committee and it reported to the conference its ideas on how to create an even better religious atmosphere.

"Perhaps the key to our spiritual improvement lies in the Christian Workers Association." This view was presented by Cathy Chilton. Cathy pointed out the majority of our "most active students" and many of our students leaders let down when it comes to the Christian work.

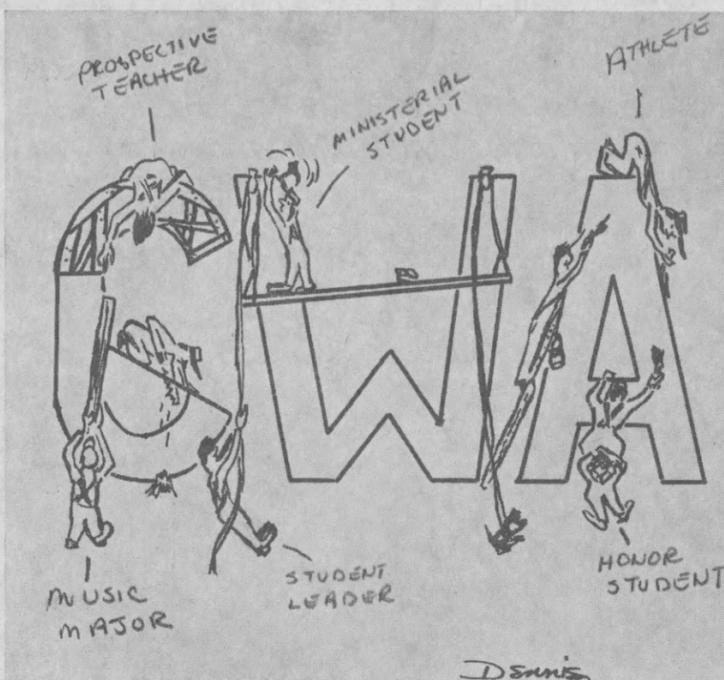

This certainly is a situation which merits the consideration of our entire student body. We need not be reminded that Trevecca is first and foremost a Christian College. We as students should not strive only for an education but for a Christian education.

In order to develop a proficiency in a major field we must study diligently the various subjects related to that field. The same is true as we attempt to develop spiritual proficiency. We must take part in the various phases of Christian training. Certainly, no phase can be more important than that of witnessing and winning others to Christ.

We also should consider the benefits that others gain from our participation in the C.W.A. We can be of ultimate aid to those less fortunate than we.

With these facts in mind, the students of Trevecca can bring about a complete "new look" in OUR Christian Workers Association. The student leader, the education major, the religion major, and all the students can unite to form a C.W.A. which will represent a true "cross section" of our student body.

A New Look

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

As one of the student teachers this quarter, I must say that it is quite an experience! What seemed to be a simple job is suddenly becoming more complex. Learning the names of thirty-seven pupils and becoming acquainted with them was enjoyable. Then as the first week progressed, there were lesson plans to prepare, bulletin boards to make, and tests to give. But during the second week I began to feel the intangible rewards that every day come to us student teachers!

I feel that student teaching, the climax of our professional education, is now our challenge. It is a time to test theories in action, to develop learning experiences with and for children, and to guide them in various aspects of their growth and development, and to learn more about how they, as individuals, and as groups, react, behave, and achieve in school situations.

As a result, I think of teaching in a different way. I want to be the kind of teacher who is respected by children and adults; therefore I find myself setting higher standards, and my interests are beginning to be centered on others more than ever before. I have a deeper concern about the children with whom I work—and what education ought to do for them.

Dear Editor:

Several have asked about Adam Clarke's venture into prophecy.

"According to one person, Dr. Adam Clarke in his commentary on Daniel 12:12 predicted the Jews would go back to their country in 1947. He wrote this in 1825. He missed it four months, for Israel was organized in 1948. Commenting on Daniel 8:14 he predicted Christ would come to Mt. Olive in 1966. This is to be after the tribulation which is to last seven years.

According to that, Jesus is to return in 1959. Mr. Clarke was no fool. If he hit the Jew's calendar he might be right about Christ's return. All the signs of the times are being fulfilled before our very eyes. If you doubt this read the following scriptures: Political signs—Luke 21:24-28; Moral signs—II Timothy 3:1-5; James 5:1-6; Religious signs—II Peter 3:3; 4:10; 2:1; Timothy 4:3-4; Revelation 3:15. Read them and compare them to the conditions of today.

However, as I read Adam Clarke's comments on Daniel 12:12, 8:1-4, and related passages I find he is not dogmatic as to his conclusions. Still they are interesting and could approximate accuracy. Jesus' coming could take place in our day. Therefore we should be ready for it now."

ACT WELL YOUR PART

The college is a group of seekers and learners who are devoted to the highest development of the community and the persons in it. It is for this reason the college community provides students with the opportunity to work as a group by banding together to accomplish some worthwhile objective through participation in class and club activities. Each class and club has selected a capable person to lead the organization, but to accomplish its purpose each member must work with every ounce of enthusiasm and spirit. As members of these organizations "how well do you act your part?"

Alexander Pope once said, "Act well your part; there all the honor lies." Everyone has a role to play in campus organizations, as well as life, and everyone has at least one talent to exercise. If you are one who is tempted to think you have no talents, you should take inventory of yourself today. God has given everyone a talent, and it should be developed and dedicated to service no matter how small it may seem.

The utilization of talents and abilities is important for the betterment of humanity, for true happiness, and for the enrichment of life. When everything you attempt to do is performed as well as possible even though it does not meet the ideals of another person, no regret should be felt, for one is only responsible for the abilities he has.

As members of these organizations we need to unite to form a tightly knit structure that will benefit the community, the college, and the students. These organizations are dependent upon your suggestions, ideas, and cooperation to make them successful.

If your talents have been dedicated to service and you have contributed your ideas then it is true that you are "acting your part well" and anyone who has done this is to be honored and appreciated. You are encouraged to play your part well through participation in class and club activities.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

One of the major problems in education today concerns the drop-out. High school drop-outs number in the millions. Colleges also are concerned that so many young people begin their higher education with enthusiasm only to fall by the wayside in their sophomore or junior year. The national average of freshmen who go on to receive their college diploma is about forty per cent. This percentage has been somewhat smaller at Trevecca.

I am concerned that the present Freshman Class of two hundred sixty face the challenge of paying the price to become members of the 1968 senior class of Trevecca Nazarene College. To date the largest graduating class has numbered seventy-three. The Class of 1968 could number two hundred—if the administration and students work cooperatively to this end.

Finances constitute a critical aspect of the drop-out problem. Accordingly, we are making every effort to make available to the students of Trevecca financial resources sufficient to pursue their education to the coveted A.B. degree.

Parents of the Freshman Class will receive in the near future a letter explaining the Insured Tuition Plan. According to this plan parents are able to make reasonable monthly installments on their child's education. There are other loan funds of a similar nature.

Next year (1965-66) Trevecca expects to have approximately $40,000 in National Defense Loan Fund money, one-ninth of the amount being contributed by Trevecca with the balance being an outright federal grant.

Students with forty-five hours credit and a good academic record may be eligible to borrow also from the United Student Aid. We have $62,500 in this fund and are in position to increase this amount if the demand justifies the increase. By depositing $1,000 Trevecca obtains $12,500 in this loan money.

Mr. Dan Hatfield is my assistant in this area and will be happy to talk with you about your problem. You should avail yourselves of these funds to supplement your present method of financing your Trevecca education.

Don't become a DROP-OUT. Plan now, both financially and academically, for full completion of your college training and a life of meaningful service.

WILLIAM M. GREATHOUSE, President

THE COMING ELECTION

For those of us interested in politics, the words "Left" and "Right" have come to be associated with the terms "Liberal" and "Conservative", respectively. These are recognized as the two extremes on the political spectrum. In between these two extremes is found the "moderate" or the "middle-of-the-roader" with whom the majority of the voters tend to identify themselves. It is therefore a strange phenomenon to find the situation which exists today with regard to the upcoming Presidential election. In this contest we find a candidate representing each extreme—Johnson, the "left" and Goldwater, the "right". We are thus confronted with two candidates speaking for two minorities found within the American electorate which in turn leaves the majority of the voters — the "moderates" or so-called "middle-of-the-roaders" — without representation.

This, then, raises the question of which candidate is going to receive the support of this vast multitude of "moderates" consisting of both Republicans and Democrats. It is my contention that it will be the candidate who most clearly convinces this group that he more nearly approaches the "middle-of-the-road" in his political and economic beliefs. Which candidate, then, will be able to do this?

LYNDON JOHNSON

Many believe Lyndon Johnson is best able to achieve this. Unlike Goldwater, he is not identified with any radical element in our political system. True, certain so-called "leftist" organizations such as the ADA and CORE are supporting Johnson; however, his name is not as intrinsically associated with these organizations as is Goldwater's with the John Birch Society and, to a lesser extent, the Ku Klux Klan. Goldwater's refusal to denounce these extremist groups has created his image in the public's mind as one who coddles extremists, radicals, and other irresponsible elements.

Goldwater must sharply alter his course to a more "middle-of-the-road" position if he is to be elected. Only if by some stroke of genius he can change his public image of being "trigger-happy", "indecisive", and "radical" will he be able to attract the "moderate" voters who hold the balance of power in this Presidential election.

BARRY GOLDWATER

The true moderates are bound to see in Senator Goldwater a "middle-of-the-roader" in the long-range American meaning of the phrase. He stands generally in the tradition of Lyndon Johnson of the days before the President's merger with the eastern wing of the Democratic Party for reasons of political advantage. In fact, except for the distortions of news coverage over several years past Goldwater's position in the Right-to-Left political spectrum would appear very close to that of Johnson in his pre-1960 years. Since Johnson has now moved to the left, in his professions and associations if not in his actual inner persuasions on issues, Goldwater stands nearer the "vital center" in things American than does the Presidential candidate. This should work a surprise for many when the votes are tallied November 3-4.

EDITORS NOTE:

An attempt is made in the foregoing article to present both sides of the campaign issue. The policy of TREV-ECHOES is not to influence your vote but only to urge that you exercise your right and your duty as a citizen by voting in the coming election.

BOOK REVIEW 1984

London. April fourth, nineteen eighty-four. Winston Smith is seated at a table, positioned carefully at the only spot in his drab apartment safe from the eternal observation of the telescreen. He must be very careful not to attract the attention of the Thought Police, for he is engaged in a deliberate act of rebellion against the Party. He is writing a diary.

George Orwell's "Nineteen Eighty-Four" traces Smith's rebellion against his society from this seemingly insignificant beginning to its futile end. Orwell's description of a government-controlled world is not only a nightmare of what might happen in the future, but a description of what is happening in many places throughout the world today. —Gene Dalton.

CLUBS AND CLASSES ORGANIZE FOR YEAR

T.M.F.

"Work and pray" is the theme adopted by the Trevecca Missionary Fellowship for the 1964-65 school term, and the means for accomplishing the goal of furthering the cause of Christ around the world.

The new council composed of President, Don Crigger; Vice-President, Ken Walker; Secretary, Mary Stanistreet; Treasurer, Sally Wyrick; and Reporter, Mary Meighan, met during the summer and made plans for the annual Missionary Convention. Other plans include conferences with members of the General Board, securing missionaries as chapel speakers, luncheons and outings.

A revision of the constitution now makes it possible for anyone to be a member of the T.M.F. Attend its meetings at every opportunity and feed your soul. You deserve it and others need you. Rev. Paul Orjala will be the guest speaker at a November 16 meeting.

MUSIC CLUB

Music club activities for the year began on Club Rush day as thirty students applied for membership. Membership now totals around fifty.

At the first meeting officers were elected and plans for the year were announced. Officers elected are as follows: Jim Hendershot, president; Carl Taylor, vice-president; Faye Jarrett, secretary; Gary Streit, treasurer; and Sylvia Jamison, reporter.

The purpose of the club is to promote musical activities on the campus, and the main project for the year will be to partially soundproof the practice rooms in the Fine Arts Building.

KAPPA SIGMA PHI

Representing the words wisdom, beauty, and truth the Kappa Sigma Phi strives to promote "a deeper appreciation for and better understanding of the creative arts."

Tentative plans for stimulating this creativity call for: a periodic literary publication composed of student contributions, supplementing reading materials to the library, and rendering information concerning cultural events currently within the city.

Officers elected for the year are as follows: Jan Milby, president; Joyce Gordon, vice-president; Marla Moore, secretary; Nancy Carter, treasurer; Jeannette Forman, librarian; and Billie Jean Cline, reporter. Mrs. Lois Blanchard serves as sponsor.

SPEECH CLUB

Held recently was the first meeting of the speech club, a club that's getting a real face-lifting this year. The business of the club included the election of officers and discussion of plans and productions for the coming year.

The newly elected officers are Eugenia Cloud, president; Dennis Orner, vice-president; Ruth Downing, secretary; Karen Salsler, treasurer; Frank Parker, reporter; and Professor Russell, sponsor.

One of the projects for the year is the construction of a new and different stage assembly. This will include an aluminum stage frame, three painted canvas scenes and six new stage flats.

The first major production of the year will be an operetta entitled, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" and will be given through the joint efforts of the speech club and the music club, which will be presented just before the Christmas holidays.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club for this year has been organized with officers as follows: Keith Vennum, president; Ralph Curtis, vice-president; Doris Irwin, secretary; Charles Martin, treasurer; Nancy Clemens, reporter; and the sponsor is Mr. John Dix.

SENIOR CLASS

The Senior Class has pulled out all stops in planning for the coming academic year. Officers have been elected, committees have been organized, and wheels have been set in motion to make this year one that everyone will want to remember.

Several major activities have been scheduled including the Thanksgiving Banquet, Twirp Week, Senior Trip and several Saturday night programs. In addition a Senior Class social has been planned for the evening of October 23 which should prove to be an interesting and enlightening occasion.

The students elected to serve on the executive council were: Suzanna McManus, president; John Sugg, vice president; Pam Dinkins, secretary; Ron Benson, treasurer; Jean Cranshaw, reporter; Becky Greathouse, student council representative and Dr. Homer Adams, faculty advisor.

The executive council shares the opinion of the class president who said, "The Senior Class urgently needs the support of each of its members, both to continue as the best class—and to strive toward being a better class!" Seniors, as members of the class we need to unite to form a tightly knit structure that will benefit the community, the college, and the students. The class is dependent upon your suggestions, ideas, and cooperation to accomplish its aims and objectives.

JUNIOR CLASS

Junior Class President, Bev Moore, now in her second year as class president, states that "Juniors will really be alive in '65." The other officers elected are Jan Forman, vice-president; Kathy Newton, secretary; Sara Hill, treasurer; Dianne Peters, student council representative, Marie Smith, reporter and Miss McClain, sponsor.

Saturday, October 31, promises to be an "entertaining" evening as the Junior Class sponsors the annual Halloween Party. Other projects for the Junior Class this year will be one Saturday night program each quarter, and of course, the Junior-Senior banquet.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore Class has begun the year under the leadership of Bobby Sutton, president and Sally Wyrick, vice-president. We are already hearing the familiar call, "Pay your class dues," from our treasurer, Jim Hendershot. These dues will be used to help the class meet its financial goals as well as sponsoring different activities throughout the year. In addition to planning and carrying out Freshman Recognition Week, the Sophomore Class will be in charge of the Valentine Banquet, the cake code, a Friday night program, as well as a special class project. The other class officers are: Phil Thrasher, student council representative; Kay Frey, secretary; Karen Unruh, reporter and Professor Dix, sponsor.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Under the leadership of Mark Greathouse, the newly organized Freshmen Class of 1964-65 plans to have a very successful year. Officers of the class include: Marla Moore, vice-president; Mary Frances Buckner, secretary; Ruth McDowell, Treasurer; Annetta Osenton, reporter; Ken Sholter, student council representative and Professor William Jernigan, sponsor. The class will be presenting one Friday night program this quarter as well as the Christmas Party. Having the largest enrollment gives the class an advantage. As Ken Sholter, student council representative, states it, "We intend to let the others know who we are; we are going to be the best!"

CHOIR DIRECTORS ANNOUNCE PLANS

Composed primarily of upperclassmen, the Men's Glee Club is under the direction of Professor James Van Hook.

Mr. Van Hook holds a degree from Trevecca in Christian Education with a minor in Church Music. He is presently working toward a master's degree in Music Education at George Peabody College.

By having more men to select from, Mr. Van Hook feels that this year's Glee Club will produce a more collegiate sound.

Each member of the Glee Club must maintain a 1.0 grade point average and must be approved by the administration.

The Men's Glee Club is the oldest group on campus from the standpoint of average age per member. Mr. Van Hook feels that this should create more maturity of sound within the group.

The scheduled tour will be centered in Mississippi and Alabama and will come during the spring break.

Glee Club officers for this year are as follows: John Sugg, president; Gene Smith, vice president; Dennis Orner, secretary-reporter; Barney Baggott, treasurer; and Ron Pelton, librarian.

Thirty-six girls comprise the Treble-Tone Choir, which was founded and is presently directed by Barbara McClain. Miss McClain graduated from Olivet Nazarene College with two degrees, A.B. in English and B.Mus. in piano. Following graduate study at the University of Illinois, where she received the Master of Music degree she came to Trevecca, where she has been on the faculty for the past eight years.

Miss McClain organized the Treble-Tone Choir six years ago. Two years later the group made their first tour, a week-end trip to Alabama. For the last three years the girls have made a regular 8-10 day tour for the college during the spring quarter.

Between winter and spring quarters the group, accompanied by Dr. Greathouse will make the southern tour, which includes Florida. Three invasions (one each quarter) are planned, and several appearances will be made in local churches.

The choir is about equally divided between freshmen and upperclassmen. Mrs. Sylvia Dodson, another member of the music faculty, is accompanist for the group. Choir officers elected are Nancy Carter, president; Marla Moore, secretary; and Kay Frey, treasurer.

The A Cappella Choir for 1964-65 will again be under the direction of Professor Ramon Unruh.

Professor Unruh did undergraduate work at Bethany Nazarene College where he sang for four years in the A Cappella Choir and traveled with a school quartet two summers. He also taught voice and music at B.N.C. Professor Unruh attended the University of Oklahoma and finished his Master's work at the Birmingham Conservatory of Music, Birmingham, Alabama. He came to T.N.C. in 1954.

Officers elected by the choir to serve this year are the following: Carl Taylor, president; Jim Hendershot, vice-president; Suzanna McManus, secretary; Harris Jamison, treasurer; Jan Milby, reporter; Priscilla Jones and Ken Sholter, librarians.

Plans for the coming year include three invasions, the first of which will be November 7-8 in Charleston, W.Va. A Cappella tour will coincide with Men's Glee Club and Treble-Tones on March 19-29.

If one were to choose a single phrase that exemplifies the attitude and goal of the choir, it would be this phrase from one of the songs they sing, "A Prayer Before Singing." It says "Lord, for Thee I Sing."

WISE RELATES TOUR

create a greater missionary interest among Nazarene youth.

In Monterrey, Mexico we had a wonderful time with the youth and were part of the 100 voice youth choir. In our eight day crusade there we saw over 350 people find Christ. One young man was forced to leave his home because he had become a Christian. As we stood at the Shrine of Guadalupe near Mexico City our hearts were saddened as we watched people crawling on their knees in cold rain over a 120 yard court yard to worship an idol. Yet our hearts rejoiced that we had a part in seeing many of the Mexicans find Christ.

We had another crusade in Coban, Guatemala where we spent six interesting days. While there we painted a dormitory on the Bible School Campus. On Sunday morning there were 709 in attendance at Sunday School there. We saw 200 people won to Christ there. I'll never forget our 120 mile trip from Coban back to Guatemala City to meet our next plane. We traveled by truck up and down mountains, through rain and fog. We were stopped several times by landslides, stopping and push the rocks over the cliff below us. Once we forded an overflowing river and watched the water splash over the hood of the truck as we crossed. The trip took us ten hours.

In Trinidad we conducted an eight day crusade with our youth there. We saw 200 people saved there. Many of them saved from non-Christian religions. We had crowds as large as 1,000. Our 600 Nazarenes there were thrilled with the results.

Fellow T.N.C. students, every country and tribe I visited earnestly pleaded with us to return to them with the Gospel. Some have no missionaries at all. I have already talked to God about it and I hope He sends me to one of these places, but if I do go I can only fill one place. How about you?

Stuco Report

By LUCY WILLIAMS

The Student Leadership Conference held at Montgomery Bell State Park on Thursday, September 24 proved to be a profitable and enlightening time for both students and faculty. Besides the members of the Student Council and their sponsor, Dr. Wise, Dr. Greathouse, Dr. Gresham, Dr. Childers, Dr. Adams, Prof. Strickland, Prof. Allen, Miss McClain, and Mrs. Blanchard also attended the conference.

Most of the group left the campus at the appointed 8:00 a.m. However, Dr. Wise suffered a flat tire on his way to the college which slowed him down somewhat. On the other hand, Dr. Childers was an early bird, having gone directly to the Park from his home.

Surrounded by the beauty of nature, Ken Walker presented the morning devotional. Before beginning the business of the day, it was necessary to elect a chairman; Jim Knight was chosen to serve in this capacity. The election of a chairman was followed by reports from members of the faculty regarding new policies for this school year and a proposal to improve the various aspects of dormitory life.

After a delicious noon meal, Dr. Gresham brought the afternoon devotional. The group then divided into committees to give special attention to four different topics of discussion. The latter part of the afternoon was spent in a uniting of ideas resulting from the committee meetings. The Conference was adjourned at 3:30.

UNDEFEATED ALPHAS CAPTURE LEAGUE LEAD

Betas and Deltas bump helmets as football season gets under way.

Forman also caught a pass for the extra point that made the score 8-0. The Betas came right back as Larry Knight took the kickoff and ran it back for the TD. Jim Knight later scored on a pass from Greg Rickey to make it 12-8 at the half. The Deltas took the kickoff and after a series of plays, Wayne Dollar ran it over for a TD and Barney Baggott scored the extra point. Dollar also scored another TD on an end sweep to put the Deltas ahead 22-12. The Betas ended the scoring on a fine run by Hollis Kelley to make the final score 22-18.

ALPHA-BETA

The Betas finally broke the stubborn defense of the Alphas, but the mighty Alpha offense rolled up 38 points. Led once again by Reed Wheaton, who scored one TD, the Alphas also unleashed a blistering running attack that saw David Bays and Vern Henderson both scoring two TD's on beautiful runs. One of Henderson's scoring jaunts was a kick-off return of 65 yards.

The Betas were led by Greg Rickey who threw three TD passes; two to Hollis Kelley and one to Jim Knight.

BETA-DELTA

In the most exciting game of the season the Betas came from behind to edge the Deltas 20-18. The Deltas were ahead at the half 18-6. Greg Rickey scored the first Beta TD on a pass from Hollis Kelley. The Deltas came right back on a 20 yd. pass from Wayne Dollar to Jan Forman. The Deltas added two more touchdowns on passes from Dollar to Richard Mitchell and Buddy Scott.

The Betas were a different team in the second half. Rickey intercepted a Delta pass and ran it back to put the score at 18-12. The Betas started another drive which ended with a touchdown pass to Jim Knight. Bob Thompson caught a pass for the extra point which won the game.

ALPHA-DELTA

In the first game of the 1964-65 football season, the Alphas won over the Deltas 46-0. They combined powerful running with accurate passing to take the measure of the Deltas. Not to be forgotten is the Alpha defense which kept the Deltas bottled up and slowed Wayne Dollar's passing arm. This kept the speed of David Stucki, Jan Forman and Richard Mitchell from materializing.

The Alphas scored early as Reed Wheaton, who played an outstanding game at quarterback, completed a touchdown pass to Lester Byington. Byington also scored another touchdown on a pass from Wheaton. Vern Henderson scored on two beautiful runs which broke the Delta's backs. Also scoring were Troy Miley and Reed Wheaton.

The Deltas never could get going. Their offense was not clicking as it has in the past. Their defense looked good at times but had trouble stopping the end sweeps of the Alphas.

ALPHA	16	8	6	16

ALPHA-BETA

On the strength of an airtight defense, the powerful Alpha nine defeated the Betas 14-0. This was the second consecutive game in which the Alpha defensive unit halted every bid for a tally. All 14 Alpha points were scored by Lester Byington on passes from Reed Wheaton. From the very first it was evident that the fans were in for a defensive battle. Midway in the second quarter, though, Lester Byington slipped behind Beta defenders and was hit by Reed Wheaton for what was actually the only score the Alphas needed. The PAT came on a quickie pass to Byington. Later in the same quarter, the Alphas overloaded the right side, splitting the halfback and the end, and again Wheaton hit Byington for a TD. The PAT failed.

The second half saw the two teams battle up and down the field with only one serious scoring threat, that by the Betas which was stymied by holding on fourth down late in the fourth quarter.

BETA-DELTA

The Deltas scored their first win of the season with a 22-18 victory over the Betas. It was a come from behind win for the Deltas as they were behind 12-8 at the half. The Deltas opened the scoring on a pass from Wayne Dollar to Jan Forman.

As I See It

LARRY KNIGHT
T.A.A. President

It's getting to be about that time of the year again; time for colds and flu, time for homesickness and heartsickness, but there is one good ailment that seems to have stricken nearly all of our students—it's called Football Fever. The spirit of one of America's most popular outdoor sports has been manifested at each one of T.N.C.'s games, with crowds in excess of two-hundred pulling for their team. My thanks is extended to the faithful, yelling, cheerleaders of each society who have done so much in contributing toward team spirit. If you haven't noticed all of those blue and gold, black and white, and red and white streamers hanging from goalposts, I'll tell you they're there. No one knows who will be the champs, so be out there everytime and help your team win.

It won't be long now until the sound of helmet banging upon helmet and pad against pad will be heard instead of head to head and bone to bone contact. Last week, 24 brand new football helmets were purchased for Trevecca Nazarene College. As soon as our pads are repaired and the new jerseys arrive, we will be one step closer to playing tackle football. The Athletic Association surely appreciates those who support it in these ways.

Did I not hear a freshman say flag football was for girls? What's your opinion now, after the cuts and bruises have taken their toll? We are really blessed this year with a bunch of hardhitting footballers. The first few games have been played and regular positions are being nailed down, some by freshmen. Frosh in the limelight are: Delta-Richard Mitchell, Mark Greathouse, Buddy Scott and John Stark; Alpha-Richard Barnes, Carl Draughn, Bob Duncan, Bobby Snodgrass and Reed Wheaton; Beta-Tommy Coog, Roy Galloway, Claude Nichols, Greg Rickey, Bob Thompson, Bob Address, Walter Motley and Hollis Kelly.

Our thanks goes to Professor Strickland, our new athletic director who is giving up a lot of precious time to help the T.A.A. Mr. Strickland is gladly helping and supporting anything that is to the betterment of T.N.C. athletics.

GIRLS' SPORTS

By ZANA PARSONS

You can continue being a lady and also participate in sports; so come on girls, put on your sweat shirts and play some ball.

When you speak of powder puffs, you think of powdering your nose. Well, you might powder your nose but not with powder puffs; for we have a sport called Powder Puff Football. Girls, if you do not come and join the team you are going to miss out on a lot of fun.

Here is another opportunity in representing your school's athletic association. If you don't think you are physically inclined to play football we will also have basketball. If you cannot make a basket, come on out anyway and guard your opponent.

For girls who think a basketball is too big and heavy or that playing it is too hard, you can still have fun playing softball. After all, the exercise is good for you, and you will get plenty of it running around those bases.

Would you like to become a member? Well here is your chance. All you have to do is sign your name and pay dues which are $3.00 a year. Then Larry Knight will assign you to your team.

Compliments of Scott Bolt & Screw Co.
