Miss Cole

Rev. Paul Say

Rev. Thorpe

The third annual Missionary Convention sponsored by the Trevecca Missionary Fellowship enters its third day today with an area-wide Missionary Rally planned tonight at 7:30 at the College Church. All the churches in the Davidson County area have been invited to attend.

In the service all three of the guest missionaries and Franklin Cook, administrative assistant to Dr. E. S. Phillips, will be speaking. The missionaries are Rev. Paul Say, Argentina; Miss Elizabeth Cole, Swaziland; and Rev. Raymond Thorpe, Africa. Rev. Say will be showing color slides following the service.

The Missionary Convention Theme has been "He Cometh . . ." It began Wednesday morning with a prayer breakfast in the College Cafeteria. Miss Elizabeth Cole spoke in chapel and Rev. Raymond Thorpe spoke at a luncheon in the cafeteria. That afternoon informal interviews with missionaries and Rev. Cook were conducted. The evening service, held in College Hill Church, featured the speaking of Rev. Paul Say, and Rev. Raymond Thorpe. Miss Cole presented her color slides of the leprosy work in South Africa. The theme for the day was ". . . I'll Work While I Watch."

Thursday's chapel featured Rev. Paul Say. The speaker at the noon luncheon was Miss Cole. A Faculty-Missionary Tea was held in the Faculty Lounge that afternoon. Rev. Thorpe and Miss Cole spoke in the evening service, with Rev. Thorpe showing slides afterwards. ". . . Watch and Pray" was the theme for the day.

Today's theme is ". . . All Out for Souls." Rev. Thorpe presented the chapel message. Rev. Say is to speak at the luncheon. Informal interviews with the missionaries will be conducted this afternoon.

Tomorrow morning, the Convention will close with a breakfast at Greer's Cafeteria at 7.

Miss Cole is a missionary nurse who has been working with the people who suffer from leprosy and because of her courageous work, she was made a member of the Order of the British Empire by Queen Elizabeth II.

Home on his first furlough, Rev. Say is in charge of all building construction on the Argentine field. He is also engaged in preaching and general missionary activities.

Working with the Colored and Indians of Capetown, South Africa by way of Cape Verde and England, Rev. Thorpe has been on the field since 1964.

The Convention has a two fold purpose. It tries to inform the students and faculty what it is like to be a missionary. It helps to make people interested in the various fields of activity. It gives first hand knowledge of the needs and victories of individual fields. Secondly, it helps students interested in the mission field to become acquainted with what is necessary to become a representative of the Church of the Nazarene in a foreign country.

The three day meeting is totally sponsored by the Missionary Fellowship, who pays for most of the expenses of the endeavor. William Sheridan is president and Dr. K. W. Phillips is the sponsor.

Wall Accepts New Position

Howard Wall

David C. Erickson, Director of Field Services, has resigned his position at the College to accept a job with the Tennessee Department of Education. He has become a counselor in the Disability Determination Section. He began Monday, March 20, 1967.

Erickson, who received his B.A. from Trevecca, had served as Director of Field Services for one year on a part-time basis and two years on a full-time basis. Before coming to Trevecca, Mr. Erickson pastored on the Florida District Church of the Nazarene. He has also taken graduate work leading to a Master's Degree at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

Mr. Erickson's duties were varied. He arranged the itinerary for all the traveling groups including the choir tours, the scholarship quartets, and gospel teams. He worked in the area of student recruitment and was in charge of "Senior Day" activities in November, 1966. The budget invasions were under his guidance.

Coming to fill the vacancy is Rev. Howard T. Wall, from Durham, North Carolina. He is the pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in that city, and is the president of the Trevecca Alumni Association. Most students remember him as speaker at the 1967 "Founders' Day" program, as the designer of the New Trevecca Seal and as the author of Trevecca Hymn. Mr. Wall is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the College.

Mr. Wall will be Director of Alumni Affairs and Student Recruitment. W. T. Dougharty, now Director of Estate Planning, will become Director of Church Relations and Special Endowments. Mr. William H. Anderson will devote most of his attention to development and general public relations.

STUDENTS VISIT KANSAS CITY

The Nazarene Theological Seminary and the Nazarene Publishing House co-sponsored a visit for prospective students from Northwestern Nazarene College and Trevecca Nazarene College. The trip, held from March 15 through 17, was arranged through the Ministerial Association.

Eight students and the Faculty Advisor, Prof. Dunning, made the journey. Hampered by the flooded Ohio River, the group arrived on the Seminary campus just in time to get ready for a banquet given in their honor. Those attending, besides the group, were the students from Northwestern and students attending the Seminary who graduated from the two colleges.

Dr. Ralph Earle presented a devotional. This was followed by an announcement that a Master in Religious Education would be offered next year. The new student body president for 1967-68 was introduced. He is Jesse C. Middendorf, a graduate of Trevecca.

After a tour of the newly constructed library, the representatives became evening guests of the student families.

Thursday, the students visited classes and chapel. The recently formed Seminary Men's Glee Club sang and Dr. Eugene Stowe, president, spoke. At noon, the Publishing House sponsored a luncheon and a tour of its facilities. This was followed by tours of the International Headquarters and the General Board Building.

Jim Baker is the president of the Trevecca Ministerial Association. Dr. Lloyd B. Byron is sponsor.

Vandy Offers "Impact '67"

Vanderbilt University is sponsoring its annual "Impact Symposium" to be held on April 7 and 8. The week-end will include panel discussions, addresses, and luncheons at campus fraternity houses where students will have the opportunity to talk informally with the speakers. In addition to these activities a dinner will be held Saturday evening for the members of visiting delegations.

The IMPACT '67 roster of speakers promises to present a vivid analysis of the role of the "Individual in American Society" from many different angles. Included on the program are Senator Strom Thurmond, conservative Congressman from South Carolina; poet Allen Ginsberg; and Dr. Purnendu Banerjee, Indian Ambassador to the United States. Other speakers include Dr. Martin Luther King, Mr. Hedley Donovan, Dr. Max Lerner, and Mr. Rowland Evans. Mr. Stokey Carmichael, a well-known "Black Power" supporter, has consented to participate in the program.

Miss Person

The registration fee for the two day event is $5.00. Attendance at all the events listed is included in the fee. Early registration is important in preparation of menus and guest lists for the luncheons. Registration forms are to be returned to Miss Rickie Rhodamer, Box 474, Station B, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee, 37203.

Faculty Member Prints Book

Miss Amy L. Person, recently retired associate professor of English, has written a book entitled Illustrations from Literature. Published by the Baker Book House, Grand Rapids, Michigan, it retails for $1.50.

In her 95-page book, Miss Person has assembled, alphabetically by topic, more than two hundred illustrations from literature ancient and modern. They cover many phases of Christian truth and will be a valuable asset to ministers and other speakers.

Some of the entries, such as Dickens, "A Christmas Carol," are summaries of entire works; others cite merely a character or an incident which exemplifies a Christian principle.

Miss Person, who had been on the staff of Trevecca Nazarene College from 1931 to 1966, had been working on the book for two years.

Receiving her A.B. from Asbury College, Miss Person earned her M.A. at the University of Kentucky, and was a graduate student at George Peabody College for Teachers, and Asbury College. She was registrar at Asbury and at Trevecca. She was also secretary of the Trevecca Alumni Association.

MISSIONS OFFER

In recent issues, we have encouraged the student body to participate in programs such as VISTA, The Peace Corp, Aid to Appalachia, etc.—programs which provide opportunity for the enrichment of others as well as the enrichment of the participating student.

The Missionary Convention now in progress reminds us of a more permanent type program, that of World Missions. I have yet to find a missionary who did not feel that he was a benefactor of missionary service as well as the people to whom he was privileged to minister. Why? Because herein lies personal fulfillment, purpose in life and justice for existence.

Some of the most intellectually gifted, most talented, and most capable Nazarene youth are preparing for a career in missions. May there be many more. HMM

CLASS ABSENCES

Apparently the new attendance policy has been to some degree misunderstood. Under the new policy "no student will be permitted to have more unexcused absences than the number of times a class meets each week. Any unexcused absences beyond this number will result in a student's being dropped from the class with a grade of F." The new policy permits an unlimited number of excused (emergency or special) absences.

It is true that this new policy is stricter on unexcused class absences. However, the new policy will benefit some who are confronted with emergency situations. For illustration, let us presume John Doe had four unexcused absences in a class which meets four times a week. Under the former policy he was entitled to three more unexcused cuts before being dropped from the class with a grade of F. Let's suppose John contracted a serious illness resulting in his missing a week of classes. Under the former policy, John would have been dropped from the class with a grade of F because that policy required that more than one-half of his absences must be excused absences.

Under the new policy John would not be dropped from his class. Actually, the new attendance policy permits the student one additional unexcused absence without the possibility of being dropped from a class due to an emergency situation.

Thus we see the new policy will work to the advantage of the student in an emergency who has taken his limit of unexcused absences, but represents a general tightening of the school policy on unexcused class absences. HMM

IN APPRECIATION

Average men do not make an impression. They fill their position in a capable manner. They contribute nothing and take away nothing. They can leave and their absence never noted.

Capable men leave their mark. They never leave a situation the way they found it. They always make an improvement. They give more than asked of them.

Mr. David Erickson is such a man.

As a student and as an administrator, Mr. Erickson has proven himself to be a Christian gentleman. He has shown concern for his work and for the College. He has been a man of unceasing energy. He has had compassion and a "heart" for student problems.

Under his direction, several new records have been made in the area of field services. Among these are the following: (1) The majority of the churches on the Educational Zone have been visited by a choir, a musical group, or a representative of the College. No church was too small for such a visit. (2) Increased enrollment and recruitment coverage. A master mailing file has been compiled of all high school students and Junior College students interested in coming to Trevecca. The results of this effort will be seen several years from now. (3) A new mileage record set last summer for a traveling group. The Trevadores Quartet traveled 16,000 miles in twelve weeks.

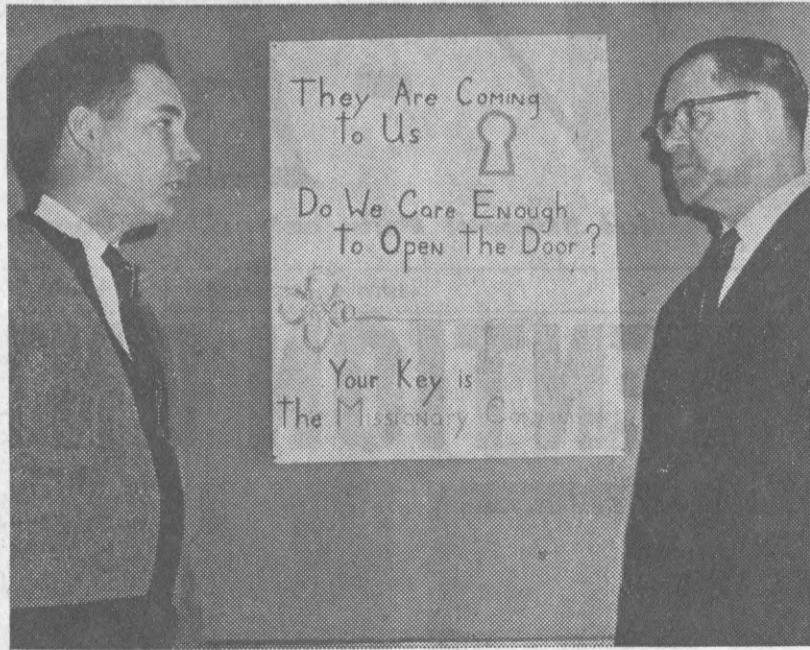

His last official act was to go with the Men's Glee Club as the College representative. Down to the last concert he "boosted" Trevecca and her students and faculty. He gave his 100%. He admonished the men to live totally for God. He stated several times that living for Christ was a natural thing to do.

May God bless Mr. Erickson as he enters this new area of service. —G.R.D.

REGISTRATION

For the second quarter in succession, students have returned from quarter breaks discovering marked improvements in the registration process. Winter quarter registration was considerably less time consuming than Fall quarter's. The transferring of the final registration line before going to the cashier's window from the Administration lobby to Library 22 was another improvement this quarter over last. The pre-registration process and the resultant limitation of class size also make for more efficient operation of the college.

Needless to say, the student body appreciates those changes which make registration less time-consuming and taxing. HMM

Leadership Seminar Develops

Trevecca Alumni President Howard Wall and 99ers President Lloyd Griffin met recently to discuss and finalize plans for a Leadership Development Seminar to be held May 27th on the campus of Trevecca Nazarene College.

President Wall announced that former Congressman Brooks Hayes will be the keynote speaker at the joint session to be held on Saturday morning. He will also address the 99ers Council for Business and Professional Development at their annual meeting and installation service to be held that evening.

Mr. Hayes is a respected leader both in the area of religion and politics. He served as Congressman from the Little Rock District of Arkansas and has served as President of the Southern Baptist Convention. At the present time he is teaching in the department of international relations at the University of Massachusetts and is serving as an advisor to the President of the United States. Tennessee Governor Buford Ellington will be introducing Mr. Hayes.

99ers President Griffin, who is working with President Wall explained that the theme of the conference is "Christian Creativity in a Changing World. The objective is to present to both the ministerial and lay person the changes that are occurring in our world today and the various improved methods that are available to deal with them."

In addition to Mr. Hayes' presentation, several work shops will be concurrently directed by specialists in various areas. These will include church administration, ministerial counseling, and others.

The work shop in church administration will be conducted by Ernest Harrison, president of the Tennessee Association of Church Administrators, who is a full-time administrator at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The work shop in ministerial counseling will be conducted by Trafton D. Williams, director of guidance and counseling at Trevecca Nazarene College.

Dr. Paul Bassett, a faculty member at the University of West Virginia will also speak.

Registration fee to cover the activities during the day is $5. Since registration will be limited, those planning to attend should preregister as soon as possible. You may register in advance by sending your check payable to: Leadership Development Seminar, Box 2899 Uptown Station, Nashville, Tennessee, 37219.

Although each church in the middle Tennessee area will be invited personally, the seminar is open to all who are interested in evaluating systems and procedures in an attempt to cope with the changing world situation. The seminar, co-sponsored by the Trevecca College Alumni Association and the 99ers Council for Business and Professional Development, is designed specifically for the Southeastern part of the United States.

Faith In What, Baby?

By CARL DRAUGHON

Adam Clayton Powell stands out in Congress in more ways than one. He is a most militant and vocal member of a militant and vocal minority. Adam Clayton Powell is a Negro. He seems to feel that this fact gives him liberty to do and say some things that are not exactly that of what we expect a representative in Congress to say and do. It is a proven fact that he has used funds from the Treasury of the United States to pay for personal trips and vacations and House funds for "junkets" to Europe and the exclusive nightclubs of Europe. He has put relatives on the federal payroll.

While it is a well-known secret that such things go on in Congress, it might make one pessimistic about their own representative in Congress. It is also a well-known secret that the morality of Congress is at times not very high. Adam Clayton Powell is not representative of what all congressmen are. He is, in fact, a stigma of the House. Because of his unique personality and constituency, he is able to do these things and still be reelected. Congress should not have anything but praise for the action they have taken. Undoubtedly, Adam Clayton Powell will be reelected but Congress has taken a stand.

It might be well for the Adam Clayton Powell constituents, the Negro race, and the people of the United States to ask Adam Clayton Powell, "Keep faith in what, Baby?"

Through The Open Door

The motto on the new Trevecca seal stands out for any to read: "Esse quam videre", to be rather than to seem.

Now being costs much, for it expects faithfulness to ideals, it calls for sincerity of purpose, it requires self-discipline, it demands endurance for the "long pull", it is based on a personal experience with God.

Being wears well; it outlasts all the tests; it provides basic motivation for all of life. Being is so important that it overflows rules; it anticipates attitudes; it determines direction; it compels one's highest and best.

Being fits into Christ's program of decisions, of priorities, of ultimate reality. Being takes us back to God, for fact number one with God is that He Is; and all His attributes and perfections root in His being. Just so our character-worth, our strengths, our values will find life in what we are, in being.

The way of seeming is easier, although there is little of dimension about it. But there is an appeal, even at the cost of superficiality. If appearance or seeming is our choice, we need but gloss over our flaws, patch up the cracks, veneer the rough and inferior, perfume the spoiled, magnify our few virtues, and stretch out our pieces of goodness.

There is a price to seeming, however, in "keeping up with the Jones". There is effort involved in "playing to the gallery". And there is dedication of a sort if we are to acquire "in" status. And all of this to what end; just seeming! Then tomorrow the Jones will lose their place of leadership, the galleries will applaud another popular idol, the "ins" will be out, and only the shell of appearance will be left silhouetted against an empty sky.

There is satisfaction in being; there is a sense of reality; there is a consciousness of fulfillment. But what lasting satisfaction can there possibly be in a seeming that cannot be other than temporary, a seeming that lacks form and substance? Especially in the religious realm is seeming disappointing, for we read concerning those who seem to be religious that their seeming is as vain as their religion. To go through the routines of the church, to skim or skin through courses here in college, to be honest for the sake of convenience, to be reliable because it pays is to seem rather than to be, to exist without permanence.

The seal says, "To Be rather than to Seem", our Trevecca seal. And although you had no part in choosing that motto, we must hold you responsible for making it fact or fancy. You will do one or the other; and in the doing you will make it plain whether or not you are "Sons and daughters she'll be proud of, dear old TNC."

"Esse quam videre."

Say Builds On Argentina Field

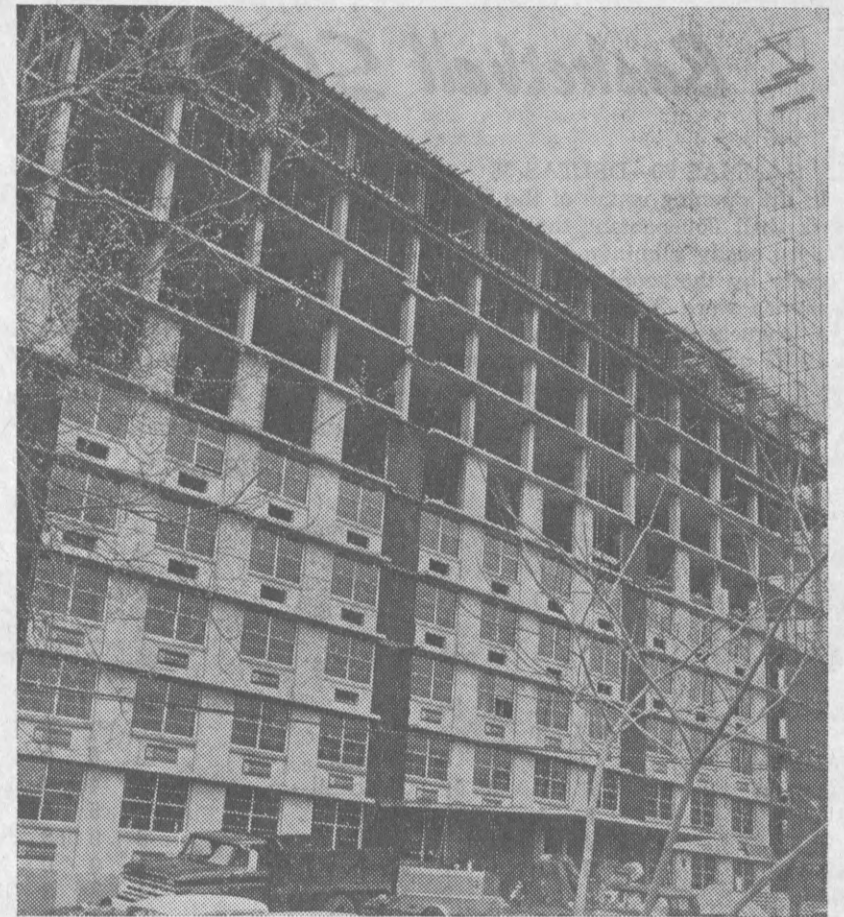

One of four guest speakers on campus this week for the Missionary Convention is Reverend Paul Say, Rev. and Mrs. L. Paul Say, missionaries to Argentina, South America, are on furlough. This is their first furlough since being assigned to Argentina in 1961 by the Church of the Nazarene.

Rev. and Mrs. Say first went to Mexico City where they were engaged in extensive language study for one year. In May, 1962 they went to Argentina where Mr. Say assumed the responsibility of all building construction on the field. In addition to this he was continually engaged in the preaching and general missionary activities.

Mr. Say was born in Pennsylvania and graduated from the Chicago Evangelistic Institute, Chicago, Illinois in 1953. Prior to his assignment overseas, Mr. Say pastored Nazarene churches in Florida for three years and then became the District Home Mission Builder on the Florida District for five years.

Rev. and Mrs. Say have three children, two boys and one girl, ranging in age from fourteen to six years. The family will be living in Florida during their furlough year.

Dr. John P. Hallows, Director of the Physical Sciences Laboratory—U.S. Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama will speak on the space program at 7:30, April 18 at the Methodist Board of Evangelism, 20th and Grand. Faculty and students are urged to attend.

Construction of the 14-story Trevecca Towers is progressing rapidly. This high-rise apartment complex is being built with federal funds and is designed to provide low cost housing for senior citizens. Trevecca Towers is sponsored by the College Hill Church of the Nazarene.

Basketball SCOOP

GAMMAS 80—DELTAS 38
 In the opening round of the TAA Basketball Tournament, the Gamma society easily eliminated the Delta Society by the score of 80-38. The Gammas were led by Don Wiley, the league's most valuable player, with 23 points. Larry Lemmon and Gary Black led the losers with twelve and eleven points respectively.

As I See It

By Ozzie Smith, TAA President

With the rising of the temperatures and the coming out of the sun, people begin to turn to the outdoors. Everyone can hardly wait to release the pressures which were stored up in them during the hard, cold winter. So as Spring Quarter begins, the Athletic Association will turn to the outdoors.

The major sport of the quarter will be softball for both girls and boys. The boys will start on April 4 at Shelby Park with the games getting underway at 4:15. We are hoping for each society to play ten games. The girls will also begin playing softball the first week in April. The girls' games will be played on campus. A proper softball diamond will be provided to play on.

We are now looking into the possibility of having another Trevecca Invitation. As plans develop they will be announced.

Although track has become dormant on campus, we hope to have at least two meets among the boys' societies and possibly one for the girls. The first meet will only be for society competition. The second meet will be an all-school meet with everyone participating. The Business Club will sponsor the all-school meet and an award will be presented to the winner. The dates for these events will be announced later.

The big event for the quarter will be the TAA Banquet. Begin now to make plans for this event because it looks like it will be one of the best if not the best TAA banquet ever on this campus.

In The Bullpen

By DON HASTINGS

When flowers through the grass begin to spring, As though to greet with smiles the sun's bright rays, On some May morning, and, in joyous measure, Small song-birds make the dewy forest ring With a shrill chorus of sweet roundelays, Hath life in all its store a purer pleasure?

So goes the poem by Goeth, or was it Vogelweide, well anyway, it's spring and everything comes budding out. Little boys fly their kites and little girls—just what do little girls do in spring? At Trevecca the little girls (and big girls, too) play softball. The Athletic Association is preparing a regulation softball field for the gals to compete against each other. I'm sure all of the ladies will blossom out and support their respective society. As for the boys, they're not just going to fly kites, they will compete among themselves on their diamond. The boys' games will be played at Shelby Park. Last year the competition was keen, and this year will be no exception. With the addition of some strong freshmen, each team will be very tough to beat. It should prove to be quite interesting. With the competition so great it should be no problem to have good crowds at each game.

Whether one is playing or watching, it is always good to have a strong team spirit. For spectators this enthusiasm can be carried through by supporting your team every game they play. For participants the spirit can best be shown by the slogan of last year's T.A.A. banquet, "Win like champions, lose like men."

Balls and Oddballs

By STELLA TAYLOR

The annual All-Star-Alumni basketball game was held at Calvert Gym on February 18. The All-Stars again came through to defeat the Alumni: by a score of 24-20. All-Stars for TNC in the scoring column were: Sandy Williams 8, Stella Taylor 8, Pris Warner 2, Jane Crenshaw 4, and Brenda O'Neal 2. Other players who contributed much to our team but were not in the scoring column were Jo Ann Booth and Jo Ann Fullwood. The guards for the All-Stars who did a great job stopping the Alumni players were Louise Stenbridge, Lynn Beane, Marla Moore, Lynn Spooner, and Charlene. Congratulations to ALL of these All-Stars for the school year 1966-67, and to the good work they did.

The Alumni Team, under the coaching of Ray Kohser, did a remarkable job during the game. It seemed as though the ladies really played even better than they had played at Trevecca. Those playing for the Alumni were Nancy Swafford with 3 points, Bev Knight 5, Jane Cranshaw 4, and K. Spruill with 8 big points. The guards for the Alumni were Joy Knight Ray Koshier, and Mary Blume.
