TREVECCA ALUMNUS TO BE MISSIONARY TO SOUTH AFRICA

NASHVILLE PASTORS ARE CHAPEL VISITORS

A number of pastors from the Nazarene Churches in, or in the vicinity of, Nashville were special visitors in Chapel Monday. Dr. Mackey introduced them to the student body. Pastors present and the churches represented were:

Rev. Carl Brown, Old Hickory; Rev. Robert L. Sumner, Bordeaux; Rev. M. E. Perkins, Bethel, Rev. S. W. Strickland, Grace; Rev. Paul Ridenhour, Donelson; Rev. W. F. Collier, McClurkan Memorial; Rev. W. M. Greathouse, Immanuel; Rev. Milton Turney, assistant pastor, Third; Dr. A. K. Bracken, College Hill; and Rev. K. D. Wachtel, Inglewood.

During their stay in Nashville, students are urged to choose a church home where they may become associate members and have a regular place to worship. Each of the pastors extends a special welcome to the students, as well as offering them an open door to service.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS TO PRESENT PROGRAM TONIGHT

The Christian Workers Association will present an interesting program in the Alumni Auditorium tonight at 8:00 o'clock. The program includes a half hour of special musical numbers. Dr. Bracken, dean of the school of religion, will be special speaker.

All students are urged to attend. The program will be well worth anyone's time. At the same time you will enjoy it and show the Christian workers group that you are interested in their activities.

DR. MACKEY'S SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS GIVES DONATION TO TREVECCA

Last Thursday evening Dr. Mackey entertained his Sunday school class at a class meeting and supper in the dining hall at Trevecca. The Eva Benson Class of the Nashville First Church has contributed liberally to the library and to the school in general. About sixty members were present including the Sunday school superintendents. New officers were installed and a musical program was given by Mr. Hobson Byars and Mrs. Howard Jarrett.

About $2,000 was pledged for Trevecca with several individuals giving $100.00 each. This money is to be used on the new Men's Dormitory, in the kitchen, or wherever it is needed to improve the school.

FACULTY COMMITTEE AND STUDENT COUNCIL PLAN LITERARY PROGRAMS

The Faculty Program Committee and the Student Council met Tuesday evening to plan the Friday night programs for the school year. A tentative program schedule was worked out for the three quarters.

Classes, departments, and other campus organizations will be given an opportunity to present interesting and worthwhile programs. Faculty members are interested that our literary programs be of the highest type so that students will want to attend. The programs planned for this year include lectures, concerts, receptions at the beginning of quarters, fine arts programs, and patriotic programs, as well as many others that will be educational and entertaining.

Miss Gladys Owen, who will leave New York by airplane on October 27 for South Africa, as a missionary of the Church of the Nazarene, was special speaker for the missionary prayer service Thursday evening, October 3, and for the regular school prayer meeting last Wednesday evening. Miss Owen, a graduate of Trevecca High School (1940) and of Trevecca Nazarene College (A.B., 1944), will teach in the secondary school of Brenersdorp Mission Station.

"It's hard to say in a few words what Trevecca has meant to me," Miss Owen said. "Trevecca offered me the opportunity to get the preparation that I needed. The educational and religious beliefs formed during the years I spent here gave me a firm foundation for further work."

In addition to her undergraduate work here, she took graduate training at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, where she was awarded the Master of Arts degree last July.

In addressing the missionary group, Miss Owen said, "When I first came to Trevecca ten years ago, my call to the mission field seemed to be in the far distant future."

There were many things to turn her from her chosen course, but through praying and living close to God, she is at the door of the glorious fulfillment of her calling. Our prayers and interests go with her as she enters the work to which she has dedicated her life.

SPICE OF LIFE

It is said quite freely that all kinds of people are required to make up a world. There may be some truth in this statement, but there is so much untruth in it that it is not safe for us to accept it at face value. Some folks, it is true, excuse their faults and blunders by relying on this statement and they think that others should also be willing to excuse them on the same basis. We hear them say very smugly, "I'm just plain old me and I can't help it; people will just have to learn to overlook my faults or they may get hurt."

No person ever tried to get by on a more flimsy excuse than that one. It is true that there are all kinds of people in the world, but they are not all required and they do not all have to remain as they are. God has made ample provision for there to be only one kind of people in the world and that is for a people who would be like Him. We shall be useful and wanted just to the extent that we appropriate those provisions for our own lives.

We do not have to be sinners, for Jesus will take us out of our sin. We do not have to live mediocre lives, for Jesus came in order that we might live abundantly. We do not have to say harsh, cutting things to people, for God will shed abroad His love in our hearts until we will not want to say such things. We do not have to be melancholy Christians, for Jesus will give us joy unspeakable and full of glory. In short, we do not have

FROM THE TOWER

Hello Everyone—

I am back again, but am slightly hampered by deficient vision. My spy glasses are blurred because of such a long distance. Yes, it is quite a distance from Columbus, Mississippi, to Nashville, but I believe I can strain my eyes and recognize a few things going on at school.

And speaking of seeing things we have all gotten a good look at the Freshmen. This week being Freshmen Initiation Week, there is much enthusiasm among them and the "Sophs." Cheer up, Freshmen, initiation comes again next year when you will be sophomores and you know what that means.

We will say to the Freshmen that we do appreciate your interior decorating in the dining hall.

I wonder if we have any grown ups in school this year. We have a "Johnny Childs" and a "Barbara Kidd."

Third Floor, McKay, is quite a business center. There is a "Merchant, a Taylor (tailor), a Miller, a Carr, a Nabor, a Nail, Two Lobb-(sters), and an English lady."

The editor of our TREV-ECHOES is quite an all-round person. She even scrubbed the TREV-ECHOES office. We are fortunate to have such a worker to back our school paper.

For helpful information to waiters and waitresses, see Mr. Roy Nix, who donned his white apron and red trimmed dish towel, Monday, and ably carried trays as his part of Freshmen initiation.

Say, for you married couples who may think school a bit monotonous, notice Clayton and Becky Langford. They participate in all activities and really seem to enjoy it.

This is all for this week, but I will see you next week for I am sure my vision will be cleared. So until then I'll say—"Adios" to be anything but what God wants us to be and has made provision for us to be. We should be true, pure, brave, and strong for there are those who care and who are depending on us to not let them down.

Ed Phillips

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that the ethical thing to do, when you borrow an article or move a piece of furniture (such as a piano), which belongs to the school, is to put it back in the same place where you found it?

Did you know that the stage curtains in the dining hall cost money and should be taken care of? Did you know the curtains can be pulled together with the cord without touching them in the center?

Did you know that the venetian blinds in the cafeteria will not last very long if students continue to jerk and pull on them—just because there is nothing else to do while standing in line?

Perhaps we have not been conscious of doing these things but could we not be more thoughtful and more Christ-like in our attitudes toward things?

—A student interested in a better Trevecca

CALL TO PRAYER

For a student's mother who is ill. For the students who conduct services and engage in Christian work.

For the students living at the Navy Separation Center, that through their influence the community may be kept free of sinful places that would be detrimental to the children and homes in the community.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid.

"Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

COLLEGE FRESHMAN OUTING

President Ayers suggested that the freshmen ought to be acquainted with fellow-sufferers, and we didn't give him time to change his mind. So Friday, October 4, 1946 found the happy college freshmen on the ground near

"ECCO HOMO"

By Lesper Heflin

(Continued from last issue. While in a museum, looking at the famous picture "Behold the Man," Evangeline Grayson, a missionary-to-be, meets a young doctor. As a result of her godly life and inspiration from the picture, Dr. Stanley Whitmore later accepts Christ as his Saviour. Now go on with the story.)

He knelt and prayed, "Lord, Thou can't have my life from now on. Help me not to live for self but for Thee. I am willing to follow wherever Thou dost lead." His soul overflowed with a new blessing. He did not understand what had happened but he knew that he was a changed person. How he longed to see Evangeline and tell her! He believed she would be glad. While he meditated how he could send the news the thought came, why not go to see her? He remembered that he had told her he would come. His heart skipped a couple of beats. Could it be possible! By taking a plane the trip would not be long. His patients could be left in the care of other doctors. He had not had a vacation in a long time. The money did not matter. It would be worth it to see Evangeline. He went to bed that night a happy man.

The following week a medical convention was held in New York. Dr. Whitmore attended the first day; then he started on his flying trip to Africa. All the way he thought of the surprise in store for Evangeline. After he reached Africa Dr. Whitmore traveled several hundred miles by train and bus before he reached the mission station.

Late one afternoon on the bus while thinking of the things which God had done for him a voice spoke softly, "Son, this is where I need you." He was startled at first; then he realized it was the Lord. "Yes, Lord, I'm willing to stay." His heart overflowed with happiness.

Nurse Grayson had been busy that day. There were several sick patients in the hospital who needed special attention. The responsibility upon her was great. Their only doctor was sick and she had to be both doctor and supervisor. She sat down to make out the day's report before the night supervisor came on duty.

"Miss Grayson, there is someone to see you," called one of the missionaries from the door of her office.

"Can I finish my report?" she asked.

"No, this is urgent, I think."

"All right," she said, without looking up.

She was aware that a tall figure stood in the doorway. When she looked up she was too astonished to move. Dr. Whitmore came forward, extending his hand and smiling.

"Hello, Evangeline. Did I not tell you I would come?"

"Dr. Whitmore! How—why—," she tried to say something as he took her hand.

"It's wonderful to see you again." He looked at her in admiration. "Why did I come? To see your hospital." They both laughed.

"Well, we can use you, for our only doctor is sick," she said.

"Then that settles it, for I have come to stay."

"Oh," she exclaimed, "so that is what has happened. I knew the burden had been lifted and believed the Lord had saved you."

The night nurse came in and their meeting was interrupted. Evangeline introduced Dr. Whitmore to all the missionaries. He helped in the hospital every day and soon found a place in their hearts. Everyone was delighted to have the new doctor around. They wondered how long he would stay and if he would try to take Nurse Grayson away with him. No one except the senior missionary knew of his call to the field. He waited for a convenient time to tell Evangeline.

One evening as the sun was sinking he asked her to take a walk with him. He told her in detail of his conversion and consecration.

"Then I just had to tell you instead of write," he smiled. "I just had to see you, period. You must know by this time that I love you, Evangeline. I know I'm not as good as you are but I desire to be. You have helped me to find the Saviour. Will you let me spend the rest of my life showing you how much I love and appreciate

SKIMP SKETCH

Just the other day, it occurred to me that for the sake of information I could stick my nose into someone else's business. Now that I've done the unusual, I'll let you in on a little secret and tell you what I found out about a certain freshman girl.

She was born March 9, 1928 in Frankfort, Kentucky. Uh—Oh! Now I've gone and told you her age! Her hobbies are music, collecting pennants, and writing themes. Her favorite subjects are French and Chemistry.

This young lady was saved at the age of five, united with the Church of the Nazarene when nine, and received her call to the mission field at the age of fifteen. This is her fifth year to attend school at Trevecca.

Just for the benefit of some of the new students who may still be wondering of whom I am speaking, I'll give you one more clue. One of her ambitions is to major in Hy-Gene.

you for that?" He took both of her hands.

"But," she began.

"No excuses now," he said. "Did I not tell you I had come to stay? On the way here the Lord definitely told me He needed me here. I'm willing to stay. Are you willing for me to, Dear?"

"Yes," she blinked the tears from her eyes.

"Willing to become Mrs. Stanley Whitmore?"

"Delighted!" Her eyes twinkled.

Like two happy children they walked back to the hospital hand in hand.

"Brother Hinton, will you ask the mission board if I may be appointed? If I'm not accepted I'm staying anyway."

SPORTS

The High School defeated the Army veterans 10-0 in a softball game last Friday afternoon, however the Army claims that most of their star players had gone to the Freshman picnic. Well, at least that is a good excuse.

Prof. Spencer called a meeting of the Athletic Association. The following officers were elected:

President -----Ladell Morgan
Vice President ---James Thrasher
Secretary ----- Bill Robinson
Treasurer ----- Louie Jeter
Custodian of Equipment

Milton McCaskell
The officers will meet with Prof. Spencer this week to complete organization. Rules for membership and a Sports Schedule for the year will be drawn up.

I am sure with an organization of this kind that a more efficient program can be developed.

club for the past three years, is looking forward to an interesting and enjoyable year with the club. He is president of the College Senior Class and co-editor of the DARDA.

Richard Steel, sophomore from Monroe, North Carolina, was re-elected vice-president. He was president of the college freshman class last year.

Secretary and treasurer will be Janie Lee Taylor, a freshman from Bennettsville, South Carolina.

The Carolina Club is composed of the students from both of the Carolinas. The membership is the largest in its four-year history.

Harvey Johnson thinks these new students are too fast—well, when they play Flying Dutchman anyway. And Jimmy Errickson knows how to keep the games going.

The best part came when we rearranged the food prepared by Faye, Lois, Cripp, Herb, Jimmy, Greer and Craig.

GEORGIA CLUB

The Georgia Club was organized October 3. The newly elected officers are:

Tommy Hardin—President
Oneita Petty—Vice-President
Lou Ouida Carlton—Secretary
Joyce Smith—Treasurer
Miss Person—Sponsor

The club of '46 has accepted as its project the purchasing of utensils needed for socials, outings, and other outdoor activities. All organizations of the school will be permitted to use the utensils. This is a growing project. Several small projects are being planned. The Georgia Club plans to be and is going to be the most outstanding club on the campus. Other clubs, we challenge you.—Reporter, Frankie Green.

BE A MORE SPIRITUAL STUDENT

Attend early morning prayer meeting, Monday through Friday, 7:30 to 8:00 a. m.

Attend the Christian Workers' prayer meeting, Monday, 6:00 p. m.

Attend the mid-week prayer service, Wednesday, 6:30 to 7:30 p. m.

Attend missionary prayer meeting, Thursday, 6:00 p. m.

Attend the prayer and fast service Friday at noon.

Caroline Hall and Dorothy Smith are having a hard life, I would guess from those readings they gave.

Herb and Cripp injected a little pep into the class with those enthusiastic appeals. Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Gresham made two excellent speeches to the group around the huge bonfire.

The presence of the G. I.'s and their wives was welcome.

Thanks to Prof. and Mrs. Irwin for their help and the use of their property.—Jean Spruill, Reporter.

A CALL FOR WILLING WORKERS

At the first meeting of the student council held Thursday, October 3, Dr. L. P. Gresham, dean of the college, was elected as council sponsor. Under his leadership we are looking forward with much enthusiasm to our task of promoting better school life.

Our aims are not to rise higher or shine brighter than the councils of former years, but to carry on the good works which they started and to maintain their high ideals. Upon their foundations we desire and will endeavor to build the structure a bit higher.

Our accomplishment of these aims will depend to a large extent on your cooperation. We solicit your help, loyalty and enthusiasm. The way to derive the most benefit from this school year is to give your whole hearted support to every phase of Trevecca's activities. Be a booster not a knocker. Be a worker not a shirker. The more we work together the happier we'll be.

We, the students of the council, express our appreciation for your confidence in choosing us as your representatives. We pledge our best efforts toward helping make this year a profitable one.

Lesper Heflin

RECENT CHAPEL SPEAKERS

Dr. Orval J. Nease, evangelist for the revival at the First Church of the Nazarene, was special speaker in chapel this week. Students were impressed by his message and earnestness in expounding the Word of God.

Rev. Roy Parks, youth evangelist, brought a fine message to the student body Tuesday morning. Brother Parks is conducting a revival at the Inglewood Church of the Nazarene.
